PRESIDENT BACKS HOPKINS

PROBE BLACKMAIL CHARGES OF AL SMITH, JR.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The president just won't let go the Florida Ship Canal and Passamaquoddy. He is now asking for authorization to spend relief money on these two universally criticized and ridiculed projects. He wants their continuance to be decided by a board of engineers appointed by him. Should his hand-picked investigators say go ahead, he can do so in total disregard of popular and expert opinion, which agree that harnessing the moon and making an island of Southern Florida are glaring examples of planetary boondoggling. If he had had a scruple in the beginning about asking permission to tip into relief billions for financing these fantastic enterprises they would never have been started.

This revival of Quoddy and the Ship Canal is obviously the result of political pressure from the regions concerned. The opinion of expert engineers has been almost unanimously opposed to both schemes.

If Mr. Roosevelt has his way it will represent a monumental victory for politics over science and common sense.

ALICE LONGWORTH.

Today is the day the men can officially cool off their domes by getting out the old straw hat. Course, the women have been wearin' theirs for months but the men are, shall we say, more conservative—adverse to having snow spoil their headpieces.

Folks who got the gardening bug too early this spring and set out plants and flowers found them in a much-wilted condition this morning, that is, those who did not have the foresight to cover their plants. There was a heavy frost during the night.

Straw hat day, which according to sartorial artists of the country, occurs today, made an auspicious start here. East Washington street saw the presence of quite a few straw hat wearers this morning, despite the rather chilly weather.

Several South Side residents told Young Pa Newc today that they believed that more motorists go through the traffic light when it is red, on the corner of West Long avenue and Moravia street, than any other traffic light in the city. One of the men said that the color of the lights is hard to determine. Another person said a little cleaning of the lights might help considerably.

Why accidents? That's what one resident asked Pa Newc this morning. And then he answered it. The friend said his car was almost crashed by a speeding car that went through the wrong lane on the West Washington street bridge last night. He was quick on the brake and averted a wreck. The thoughtless

Three Men Alleged To Have Made Demands Upon Former Governor's Son

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—A Henry Ross, Brooklyn attorney, and Max O. Krone, head of a private detective agency, were indicted by the grand jury on charges of extortion in connection with the charge of Alfred E. Smith, Jr., son of the former governor, that he was blackmailed over an alleged love affair.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Alfred E. Smith, Jr., son of the former governor, went before the New York county grand jury today on his complaint that an extortion gang swindled him of $11,000 in a blackmail plot under threat of exposing alleged intimacies with a pretty blonde secretary.

Young Smith appeared at the grand jury rooms to testify shortly after Assistant District Attorney Harold Hastings announced that Miss Catherine Pavlik, 25, had been exonerated of any complicity in the plot.

Unknowingly Used In Plot

The young woman, Hastings said, was unknowingly used in the plot against the former governor's son.

Three men, alleged to have made the demands upon Smith, were to be questioned later by the district attorney.

They are Irving Krone, a private detective; Henry Rose, an attorney, and "Lord" Ernest Desmond.

The latter denied all connection with the case.

Details of the matter were difficult of extraction from the district attorney's staff but it was learned that young Smith said he met Miss Pavlik last year at a party given by a physician friend and became attracted to her.

Soon after, his troubles started. A

MEN WERE AFTER OLD COPPER WIRE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—Two men trapped or lost in 15 miles of black, dank passageways of an abandoned mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company near the county airport were sought today by emergency crews of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The two men were Arthur Tonner, 35, and Robert Dyers, 36. They crawled into the black labrynth apparently seeking old copper wire. Last night, a third man, Edwin Miller, became frightened and retreated. He waited outside the mine all night but his two friends failed to re-appear.

The men have neither food nor water.

Tells Of Plight

Police first learned of their plight from Charles Dolan, 27, who has been staying at the home of H. J. Sweeney near the mine. This morning, he said, Miller, agitated and excited, told him of the plight of the two men.

All other entrances but the one found by Tonner and Dyers have been sealed. This one entrance was once dynamited and sealed also but caved in later, leaving a "rat hole" about three feet in diameter.

Dolan said Miller told him he became frightened upon noticing that some of the walls had collapsed and retreated. The others turned into a side corridor.

French May Reconsider Payment Of Debt To U. S.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PARIS, May 15.—Leon Blum, slated to become premier soon, today held out the strong possibility that his government would reconsider payment of the French debt to the United States.

In a speech at the American club the Socialist leader also called for freer trade with the United States, and peaceful relations with the Hitler regime in Germany.

Ambassador Jesse Isidor Straus was among the group of 300 that heard Blum.

Declares Misunderstanding

Declaring there had been a misunderstanding between France and the United States over the debt, Blum explained:

"It was not understod that the Dawes plan and the Hoover moratorium were separate.

"The French did not realize that one-sided denunciation of a contract made Americans question their business and moral probity. I hope that this misunderstanding will be wiped out by a common accord that will serve to change conditions in Europe and help to remake the world."

France and the United States have the same ideas of social jus-

Over 100 Federal Men Hunt For Rum Runners Who Killed U. S. Agent

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—Armed with machine guns, more than 100 revenue agents combed the gang haunts of Illinois and Indiana today for the desperate crew of rum runners who shot and killed Agent John R. Foster near St. John, Ind., early yesterday.

One suspect was held in custody and five other persons are being held for questioning.

One Man Held

The suspect, James Jacobs, 40, of Indianapolis, was nabbed in Chicago Heights as he called at a garage for a black coupe, identical in appearance to that in which Foster's killers rode.

Two hundred gallons of alcohol, a sawed off shotgun, and a number of rifle cartridges similar to the one that pierced Foster's heart, were found in the car.

The slaying of Foster revealed the existence of a reborn bootlegging industry, battling to take business away from the heavily taxed legitimate dealers.

Killed In Pursuit

Foster was killed an hour after midnight yesterday, as he and another agent pursued a black coupe they suspected was running bootleg alcohol from the still active stills of Chicago's southwest side to Indianapolis. As the agents' auto racing at 80 miles per hour, drew near the black coupe a man leaned from the pursued auto and fired five shots from a high powered rifle at the revenue agents. Two of the bullets smashed through the hood and struck Foster in the leg. A third ripped through the dash and into Foster's heart.

RAN FROM BEHIND PASSING MACHINE

William Hogue, aged 8 years, of R. F. D. No. 2, is in a critical condition in the Jameson Memorial hospital, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and lacerations about the head, received when he ran in front of a car driven by Mrs. O. Pratt, of 696 Broadway, Bedford, O., near Scotland Lane on Route 422, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

According to Frank Womer, another boy about William's age, who was with him, they had been to the store and bought an ice cream cone and were standing alongside the road talking. After a car traveling in the direction of New Castle, had passed, William ran out into the road and into the path of Mrs. Pratt's car.

Mrs. Pratt, endeavored to avoid running down the youth and swerved her car to the side of the road, running up over an embankment and striking a telephone pole and tree. The little Womer boy said that the left rear fender had struck the injured youth.

William was removed to the hospital by L. W. Daugherty, of King avenue. Mrs. Pratt was released on her own recognizance by State Highway Patrolmen who investigated the accident.

Doak was released near Antlers, Okla., 90 miles southeast of McAlester, shortly after two prison guards were freed there by the convicts.

The guards, Victor Conn, 25, and Tuck Cope, 39, arrived here early today and went immediately to the penitentiary where they were put to bed. Cope had a slight flesh wound in the neck, received during the prison break.

Return Recaptured Pair.

The two recaptured convicts, Bill Anderson and Archie Herring, were also taken to hte penitentiary.

Four of the remaining six convicts still at liberty, will be retaken soon, Alex Watson, prison official, said today. They are surrounded near Antlers, according to Watson.

"We did the state an injustice by bringing these men back alive," Watson declared, referring to the two recaptured convicts, "they're the yellowest guys I ever had anything to do with."

Two of the convicts still at large have apparently escaped the net of hundreds of police and possemen.

Senate Committee Is Divided On Substitute For President's Tax Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Unanimously opposed to President Roosevelt's plan for taxing corporation earnings but sharply divided over a substitute, the senate finance committee met again today in secret session to revise the $803,000,000 tax bill.

Sentiment on the committee favored the raising of at least $623,000,000 of new revenue from corporations, as urged by the president, without centering on any particular plan. A committee majority was committed definitely against forcing corporations to pay out all their earnings in dividends while favoring some plan to stop corporations from avoiding taxes by holding their earnings as surplus.

A series of substitute plans were under discussion. All were based upon levying a flat tax upon corporation earnings, with a super tax to encourage distribution of earnings to be imposed only after allowance of exemptions. The flat rate most frequently discussed was fifteen percent, with the super taxes ranging all over the scale and the exemptions running up to thirty percent.

Dr. Crooks resigned the pastorate after nearly 20 years of service, one of the longest periods any minister has served one church in this city. He has an excellent record, has won a great many friends, not only in his own congregation but throughout the city, and last night's gathering was one of a number of testimonials that have been given in his honor.

Smaller Fund To Be Expended On Purchase Of Lands President Says

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Roosevelt denied today that appropriation of the entire $1,500,000,000 relief fund to WPA Administrator Hopkins would mean the end of PWA, the resettlement administration and other relief agencies.

Rather, the executive indicated, the entire fund will represent a pool for all agencies with Hopkins handling the purse strings.

The president took the attitude that most of the argument in congress on the subject of relief appropriations revolved around who was going to sign the checks. It is immaterial to him, he said, who signs the checks.

Although Resettlement Administrator Rexford G. Tugwell told a senate committee yesterday that his agency would have to fold up after June 30 unless it go further funds, Mr. Roosevelt was emphatic in saying its functions would continue. It is only necessary for Hopkins to

Noted Jockey Is Near Death From Leap Out Window

Laverne Fator, In Hospital Since May 11, Is Critically Injured

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Laverne Fator, noted jockey, was injured critically today when he jumped or fell from a second-floor window of the Jamaica hospital.

He suffered a fractured skull and physicians feared he would die.

Fator had been in the hospital since May 11 suffering from acute appendicitis. He had been irrational most of the time, physicians said, making it inadvisable to operate.

Had Heard Voices

During his stay in the hospital, physicians added, Fator had "heard voices," the result of his illness affecting his mental condition.

Under care of a private nurse, Fator had been confined to a private room. The nurse left the room for only a moment today to get some medicine.

When she returned, she found the window screen had been pushed aside and her patient was missing.

Fator was found unconscious on the pavement below and taken back into the hospital immediately.

OVERCOAT BUTTON EVIDENCE

May Seal Fate Of Defendant

State Claims It Was Torn From Coat Of Washington, Pa. Man On Trial

FOUND NEAR SCENE OF ATTACK ON GIRL

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 15—An overcoat button, today was seen as the instrument which may send Robert Dreamer to the electric chair for the brutal murder of Thelma Young, 17, here eight years ago.

The button was presented in evidence by the commonwealth which will claim that the pretty girl tore it from her slayer's coat on a night in December, 1928, as she struggled against his advances in an alley near her home.

Attorneys for the state will attempt to show that the button, found lying near a blood-stained brick with which the girl apparently was beaten, is from an overcoat found in Dreamer's home after his arrest in January.

Demanding a verdict of first degree murder, Wray G. Zelt, special prosecutor, declared in his opening address to the jury the commonwealth would prove Dreamer committed the murder.

Dreamer pleaded not guilty.

slain by the fleeing convicts, his bullet-ridden body tossed from a car on a downtown street as the desperadoes made their dash for liberty. Another guard was wounded as the convicts exchanged fire with guards on the prison walls.

Ten of the escaping convicts were shot down in a rain of machine-gun fire and recaptured. None were wounded seriously. Another band was recaptured without the firing of a shot as they attempted to commandeer an automobile on the highway near the prison.

Believe Four Surrounded.

In addition to the four convicts believed surrounded near Antlers, two others are at large.

Claude Beavers and Julius Bohonnon, said by Warden Kenny to be desperate killers, were believed headed towards Hot Springs, Ark.

Hot Springs officers set out to intercept the pair after they eluded a posse at Bohonnon's home, 10 miles west of Cove, Ark. The pair exchanged shots with possemen, it was reported here. Hot Springs officers hoped to cut off the convicts from entering the Ouachita national forest, west of Hot Springs, a mountainous, heavily timbered country where the desperadoes could easily hide out for months.

Warden Kenny today voiced the possibility the break was the result of Oklahoma's recently enacted sterilization law, to which all the convicts were subject as they had all served at least one previous penitentiary term.

McAlester, Okla., May 15.—Four of the six fugitive convicts from the state penitentiary here, who are still at liberty, are surrounded by more than 100 guards, officers and possemen near Antlers, Okla. Deputy Warden J. F. Dunn announced today.

The convicts are Claude Beaver, ringleader of the escaping convicts; Jess Cunningham, Julius D. Bohanon and Claude Pugh, according to Deputy Warden Dunn.

The remaining two convicts have separated, he said.

Smith said he insisted upon receiving a "release" from further demands and from a threatened supreme court lawsuit.

Despite this, district attorneys' investigators said Smith told them he had to pay another $5,000 exaction, turn over his car and sign a $10,000 promissory note.

He then went to the district attorney's office where he signed a complaint of extortion.

appoint an agent to transfer funds under the pending bill from the $1,500,000 funds to the resettlement administration.

And, the president added to his press conference, in the final analysis, he probably would make the allotments himself.

The executive also outlined the manner in which PWA would continue. PWA, he said, still has quite a sum available in its revolving fund for the making of 55 per cent loans to communities which desire to undertake certain types of public works. Wherever these projects conform to the requirement or taking men off relief rolls, WPA will certify necessary money to meet payrolls up to 45 per cent of the project's cost.

To Continue Program

The four functions of resttlement administration which the president said would continue are:

1. Continued care of the 550,000 to 600,000 families that are being kept off work relief rolls through land grants and loans—which the president said was a cheaper form of relief than WPA.

2. A continuation of the practice of moving rural families from unworkable land to land where they may make a living—again cited as a cheaper form of relief.

3. Maintenance of the educational system which in the past few years, he said, has showed between 200,000 and 300,000 families how to eke a better living from the soil.

4. A carrying-through- to-completion of the rural and semi-rural settlements which already have been built or started.

In connection with the latter phase, the president indicated it was unlikely the government would undertake to start any new settlements. Rather, those already planned will serve as sample projects all over the country.

Not so much money will be spent next fiscal year on the purchase of submarginal lands as is being spent this year, but Mr. Roosevelt said this should not be taken to mean the program had been completed.

Correct this sentence: "She has a college education," said the parent. "so there's no danger of her marrying an ornery little loafer."

Tribute Is Given.

Oscar Riley paid the resigning minister a tribute from the Christian Endeavor and presented him with a name quilt which had been made at the church. At this time also he was given a very substantial gift of money from the entire congregation, whose spokesman was Kenneth Gaston.

Dr. Crooks responded in a very gracious manner.

Although he will deliver his farewell sermons on next Sunday, Dr. Crooks will probably remain in the city for some time. He will be at the parsonage on Oak street for several weeks, and has a number of preaching engagements he has promised. He will attend a meeting of the Geneva college board, of which he is a member, and the synod at Winona Lake, Ind., in June, then expects to stay in Youngstown, O., temporarily for the rest of the summer.

May Mention Debt

Blum, who has long been considering the American debt impasse, will mention this problem with the possible suggestion of at least partial payment in his ministerial declaration to the chamber of deputies June 2, according to authoritative circles.

Some debt gesture may even be made before the next payment falls due June 15, some quarters predict.

Blum faces trouble, however, if he tries to make a payment, as the country is already in financial strains.

Stressing France's desire to "live in peace with all nations, no matter what their internal regimes," Blum held out a friendly hand towards Germany, but indirectly struck at Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

"War is no liberator," he said. "This is an illusion.

"I hope to see Europe delivered from the obsession that war is coming . . . in all matters, and on all grounds, respect for international engagements and securities is essential."

POPULATION SHIFTS

NO FEDERAL census bureau figures were necessary to prove that the one spot in the country where population increase has been the greatest by far in the last few years is the District of Columbia. Everybody has known that, and if there is any comfort to be extracted from the 22 per cent jump from the last official census in 1930 to July 1 last, it is that the rate has not been greater.

In other details the estimates announced by the bureau are highly interesting and significant. They are the result of a carefully worked out mathematical formula, weighted to the last census. While not conclusive, as the bureau takes occasion to caution, they may be taken as fairly accurate in indicating the degree of growth and the direction of contemporary major trends.

South Carolina and Georgia, with provisional gains of 15.7 and 15 per cent respectively, far outstripped all the other states. This development will be ruefully viewed by Rhode Island, which because of the inroads on her cotton manufacturing industry by the South with its cheaper facilities, shows a 0.9 per cent loss. "Little Rhody's" pride is further bruised in that she is the only state of the New England and Middle Atlantic groupings to fall behind.

Of the eleven states appearing with minus signs all are located west of the Mississippi River, Rhode Island and Mississippi alone excepted. It reflects in large measure the considerable shift in population caused by the depression, the drought and the wind storms in the Western agricultural areas. Yet it fell to Arizona, more a mining than an agriculture or grazing state, to show the largest decrease, 11.4 per cent.

WHY SO MANY SUICIDES?

Why so many suicides as there have been, in this and other countries, in recent years? It isn't necessarily the depression, says Dr. Gregory Zilboorg, New York psychiatrist. Financial failure, lack of work, and so on, are only of secondary importance.

The direct cause is the "bottling up of inherent, aggressive impulses."

"Unless the psychic machine, the human individual, is permitted to function freely," he says, "it will wilt under the pressure of its own inner steam and, like a boiler whose safety valves are plugged up, it will break."

He adds that one of the most prolific causes of suicide in the world today is the growth of political dictatorships which "plugs up man's natural drives." If man's natural forces cannot find a legitimate outlet, they will turn back upon themselves.

Countries that have lost their political freedom are full of tragedies of this sort. It is one of the most grievous crimes that political tyrants have to answer for. Political liberty is, among other things, a great help to mental health.

COMMEMORATIVE WHISKERS

Alfred University, in the town of that name in New York, is a comparatively small institution, as universities go in these days, though it has 600 students and 50 members of the faculty. Its centenary this year should none the less attract general attention, if only for one novel feature of the celebration. The purpose is to reproduce the atmosphere of 1836, and to this end several of the professors have signed an agreement to let their whiskers grow in the hope that their example will be generally followed. If it is, the centenary will have plenty of historic color.

Whiskers lasted well through the last century. The young dandies cultivated them carefully. Moustaches and burnsides were the principal adornments in their case, with here and there a goatee. Their elders ran more to chin whiskers, full beards and "divers tonsorial accoutrements." To be without whiskers of any kind was regarded as effeminacy. Clean-shaven faces are now the rule.

"Back to whiskers" is a cry which suggests the sturdy virtues of our forefathers. Will it sweep the country beyond the boundaries of Alfred? Will the young women, whom whiskers intimately concern, stand for a return to the ancient fashion if the young men adopt it? Or will the whiskered age end with the centenary? These are grave questions not to be answered off-hand.

FORECASTING WEATHER

From the Nation's Capital comes word that a government scientist, Dr. Charles G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution, has perfected a system of forecasting the weather on the basis of variation in solar radiation which may make it possible to predict the weather for periods of 10 days or two weeks.

Such forecasts would be of great value in practically all forms of business and in daily life. With a forecast for a year in advance, manufacturers could plan production of seasonal goods, coal famines and water shortages would be unknown and athletic programs and the like could be scheduled with a better than even chance of not having weather interference.

In 1933 Dr. Abbot announced his findings, showing that a definite 23-year cycle exists in weather relationships. But the problem facing him is to correlate this cycle to local conditions so that an exact forecast can be made from different localities.

Dr. Abbot made a forecast of the weather in 1934, 1935 and 1936 for 66 different parts of the world. Because of the experimental nature of the work none of the forecasts except that for 1934 have been made public.

Forecasts for that year were checked against the actual weather records for the 12 months, and the comparison showed a percentage of accuracy far beyond the possibility of mathematical chance.

THE GREAT city editor, "Doc" Wood, who worked for Charles A. Dana, would have called this "NEWS".

Republicans and Democrats in this campaign will use music to attract "radical groups" and gather in votes. The Republican convention will have choirs of colored people, also Germans, Italians and Scandinavians, singing at intervals.

Colored singers will remind the nation that "All the world am sad and dreary, everywhere I roam," the suggestion being:

"Why don't you colored people vote against the New Deal, remembering what Abraham Lincoln did for you?"

German, Italian and Scandinavian choruses will sing songs, tactfully selected; the Germans, perhaps, addressing the candidate, will sing Du Bist Wie Eine Blume—very beautiful.

NOBODY CAN put anything over on Postmaster General Farley, who will run the Democratic campaign. He will make those Republican "racial" singers "back way up stage," signing up all the really loud brass bands.

"I wouldn't hesitate at a symphony orchestra," says he, "unless I found public opinion opposed it, and I'll have more jubilee singers, more choruses than those Republicans ever heard of."

I....I....I

I WROTE that I wished I were six feet tall and had red hair. . . . One man, slightly more than six feet tall, told me that it's better to be a "little shrimp"; if you're a big fellow other people expect too much of you. . . A red-headed fellow told me that because he has read hair he's always being accused of possessing a hot-temper—and he hasn't.

I met a man whose family had kept two female eagles in a cage for 40 years. . . He said they paid for their board too. They sold 30 eggs a year for 4$.50 a piece to collectors too lazy to climb the crags and get them themselves out of wild eagle nests. . . .What interests me is that during those 40 years nobody had any overwhelming impulse to let those eagles go. . . He said that eagles, when free and forced to earn their own living, live to be a hundred years old.

I saw an automobile accident the other day, in which both drivers insisted on taking the blame. . . .I swear that's true.

What's pleasanter than meeting an old friend and discovering that he still likes you and you still like him?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHERE IS IT?

What has become of the old wooden Indian that stood outside the cigar store of Bob Allen in Washington?

Why has the Indian cigar sign passed out of existence? Why is it not used any more by the vendors of tobacco? It was the most expressive advertisement of tobacco that American merchants ever made, for the Indian was the first grower of tobacco. Among other things that the white men stole from the Indians was tobacco; the greatest export of the Colonists at the time of the Revolution was tobacco. The Indians taught the Colonists the value of the leaf, shown them how to raise it and all that. The great tobacco warehouses and manufacturing plants of Winston-Salem and Durham are but evidences of a great industry that was first Indian.

It all brings back the statement that Will Rogers made when he was speaking about the ancestery of Americans, to one who was boasting about his ancient American family. "Yes," said Will, "I belong to the race most ancient in America; the race that met those ancestors of yours on the Massachusetts shore. It was to my ancestors everlasting disgrace that they ever allowed your ancestors to land."

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Who stands in the receiving line at a wedding ceremony and in what order? CATHERINE.

Answer—If yours is to be a large wedding with a maid-of-honor and many bridesmaids, you may have two receiving lines—one for the bridal party and the other for your parents and those of your bridegroom.

In this event, the parents line forms near the living room door to be approached first by incoming guests. Your mother should head the line. Next to her should stand the bridegroom's mother with her husband by her side and your father last, if he wishes to stand in the line. If not, he may mingle with the guests.

Farther back in the living or drawing room, in the most conspicuous spot, should be the bride's receiving line. In it are included the members of the bridal party, standing as follows: First, the bridegroom with his bride to his right and the maid-of-honor standing beside the bride. The bridesmaids may be either grouped beyond her or divided, half on the bride's side and half on the bridegroom's side.

The best man and ushers usually circulate among the guests.

If you prefer, you may have only one receiving line, which may be formed as follows: Your mother first, with your father standing by her side. You come next with the bridegroom by your side, then his mother, his father, the maid-of-honor, etc. This method will allow the bridegroom to introduce the guests to his parents.

Ohio Fight Reveals Borah. Issues Of Campaign Bared. Whispering Is Indulged In.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

IT WAS A REVEALING fight that Senator William E. Borah put up in Ohio. In this primary campaign for presidential delegates, the entire unescapable politico-economic issue was uncovered—and both sides tried to sidestep.

Here was Senator Borah defying his own party, the Republican, as well as the Democratic party, to tell the truth. And here he was, too, faced with his own beliefs and not being able to satisfy with them.

To those who followed this campaign, as did this writer, there seemed a new epoch dawning—but an epoch which we, perhaps, will not enter. An epoch reserved for the coming generation. Not an easy epoch—rather, one of sharply contesting forces.

Why does one write this? Well, to those of us not past middle age the arguments used in this bristling, bitter campaign seemed aged and totering. The words might have been uttered by gentlemen of the first water—yet they failed to satisfy. We observed that a large part of the multitude thought the words outworn.

Nevertheless, more forceful words were spoken than will be heard at either major party convention. Here were issues debated with unreserved fervor. It was a revealing primary campaign to the student of political history.

Not that it will go down into history; but it may be one of the last milestones of a passing epoch.

BORAH SPEAKS OUT

Here was a senator speaking out at 71, fighting for a share in the proceedings of a political party which he declares is bankrupt of ideas and hope. If, at 51, this same senator had spoken as he now was speaking, he could have obtained the highest prize—and the party might have surged with vitality. But here he was 71 fighting against a united front of men who would dispose of him in short order.

And what a fight! Even his enemies admired it. But he was beat at every turn.

Robert L. Taft, whom the enemy put up as a "favorite son", was a "front" for putting the Ohio delegation on a trading basis. Senator Borah asserted—and nobody denied. ("What of it?" asked politicians, forgetful of the original intent of primaries.)

And who put up such a slate? Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, a boss whose political tactics have been denounced for years by many newspapers—Walter F. Brown, who was postmaster general in Hoover's cabinet. Yes, Walter F. Brown and State Republican Chairman Ed D. Schorr put forth Mr. Taft—and when one voted for delegates supporting Mr. Taft, then, Senator Borah asserted, he voted "for the nomination of Herbert Hoover and the annimilation of the Republican party." But thousands voted as the machine dictated—yes, tens of thousands.

And you who did not follow this campaign will ask why.

Because the persons who ordinarily would follow Senator Borah were in the Democratic camp. Not that they really desired to be there. But in 20 years Senator Borah's following had crossed the Rubicon—and he was in the wilderness.

WHISPERS AND MUTTERS

As usually occurs in an election campaign, whispers were set afoot. "Borah had filibustered against the anti-lynching bill."

He had not. He had spoken 35 minutes in the senate against the "unconstitutionality" of that particular bill. The damage, however, had been done not only among the large Negro populations of the big cities, but among some other minorities.

"I am just as much opposed to lynching as any person could be," Senator Borah cried out. "It is a national disgrace.

"My reason for opposing the anti-lynching bill rested solely upon the proposition of its unconstitutionality. Congress has no power to pass any such measure. . . ."

Then Senator Borah launched into the "real issue"—"constitutional integrity."

But here is where he failed to answer a question that listeners were asking—any more than his opponents, who also demand "a return to the constitution" plus economy.

The voters were muttering to themselves, "If it is unconstitutional to stop lynching, or provide farm relief, or regulate wages and hours, or stop child labor, then something is wrong."

Now, the reader himself may agree with Senator Borah or his opponents, and writers, too, may agree with them, but the fact of the matter is, these Ohio debates stirred up questions such as the foregoing. And nobody seemed ready among the politicians to face them.

The Democrats, subject to no such bitter inter-party contest for presidential delegates, kept quiet — but they would have given no more satisfactory answer to the crowd. They They are sliding through on "prosperity."

Senator Borah himself spoke of going back to something that to the eager thousands seemed indefinable. They did not seem especially enamored of Republican or Democratic leadership. In fact, they seemed to be looking for new leadership—to take them into the promised economic land. But did Senator Borah say anthing in regard to pointing the way forward?

AN ATTORNEY'S PROUDEST MOMENT

We were chatting, as men will, of things past, and things to be,
When he said, "The proudest moment that has ever come to me
Was the day I checked my savings
more than twenty years ago
And said to Uncle Hiram: 'I can pay you what I owe.'

"You see, my Uncle Hiram wasn't easy as a rule,
But he did advance the money so that I could stay in school.
And the day I graduated I went back to him to say
That if once I got established every dollar I'd repay.

"Uncle Hiram merely grunted, said
goodby and wished me luck,
And the note which I had offered
in his pocketbook he stuck;
But the road was long and toilsome
and the years so swiftly flew
That to meet my own expenses seemed the best that I could do.

"Still I scrimped and saved and struggled, and the day I shan't forget
When I went to Uncle Hiram with enough to pay my debt.
I was proud of that achievement,
but a tear drop in his eye
Told me that Uncle Hiram was a prouder man than I."

Many New Schools Built In State By Aid Of P.W.A.

Old Schools Also Repaired Through Use Of Federal Funds

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Under the PWA program, new schools have been built and old schools have been repaired in Pennsylvania so as to accommodate an additional 90,423 pupils, PWA Administrator Harold Ickes reports.

PWA grants and loans in the Keystone state have made possible erection of 246 new school buildings and the repair and extension of 24 old buildings. These construction activities provided 2,258 new classrooms, accommodating 90,423 pupils. Only three states outrank Pennsylvania in the number of pupils for which accommodations have been provided under the PWA, New York coming first with 131,231, California second with 110,094, and Texas third with 96,269.

The new accommodations in Pennsylvania, according to types of schools, were listed by Mr. Ickes as follows: Elementary schools, 797 classrooms and 31,992 pupils; high schools, 1,270 classrooms and 50,791 pupils, and combined elementary and high schools, 191 classrooms and 7,640 pupils.

brass bands, racial choruses and symphony orchestras bombarding the ether will make it impossible for anybody to think—ideal for a political campaign.

A PERSON named Luciano, on trial in New York as "lord of the vice ring", had an idea, it is charged, that it was at least profitable.

Observing that vice in New York City was not brought under "proper organized control", he grouped his "mob" of alleged criminals, including assorted disbarred lawyers, and put vice "on a paying basis."

As a result, every miserable outcast woman in New York was compelled to pay ten per cent a week on her earnings. All this, according to the prosecutor.

IT IS possible that the Angel Gabriel, who keeps track of such things, will later have the satisfaction of writing in his book, "Luciano, 60 years in prison," while waiting for that person to appear above and hear a real sentence.

PROF. RAYMOND MOLEY says it was easier for Mussolini to conquer "muddy thinking" in the League of Nations than it will be to "prevail over the mud of Ethiopia in months to come."

Also, Prof. Moley, observing that Mussolini intends to keep 400,000 soldiers in Ethiopia, wonders how he will ship 400,000 Italian women out to join them. Conscripting women would be new, and moving them would be expensive.

MUSSOLINI seems to have had his plans made from start to finish, and 400,000 Italian women would make the trip gladly, knowing that they and the 400,000 soldiers would lay the foundation of future civilization in Africa.

Ancient Rome did it in Gaul, England and other primitive lands; modern Rome will do it in Ethiopia.

PUBLICITY with dignity, Mussolini withdraws from Geneva and the league, perhaps never to go back.

Privately, his representatives are said to have suggested to the league:

"You have a seat here for Haile Selassie, the runaway Ethiopian Arab, now hiding in Jerusalem. Why don't you put an arm chair on either side of his seat for the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon, from whom he thinks he descended?"

WHILE DR. ECKENER in the sky, was trying to break the record on a 3,900-mile flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Frankfort, Germany, Mrs. Dibble of Massachusetts was breaking the four-in-hand coach record between New York and Atlantic City, 118 miles.

Using several teams of horses, she made the trip in 9 hours, 44 minutes and three seconds, police clearing the way.

A small automobile could have made the same trip comfortably in an hour and a half, a really fast plane could have done it in 20 minutes. The horse will soon be "a museum piece, as regards fast transportation."

HERBERT HOOVER, former president, saw on Tuesday the third international stamp exhibition at the Grand Central Palace in New York, opened by President Roosevelt. In a short time the philatelic agency sold $180,000 worth of rare stamps, a record.

A GENTLEMAN wants to know by telegraph from San Francisco whether collecting stamps is really wasting time. It is not, if you have some interest in life, and make stamp collecting a hobby. Everybody, as the late Lord Northcliffe said, needs a hobby.

The late King George was a great stamp collector, collecting only British stamps.

President Roosevelt was an ardent stamp collector in his youth.

THIS HUMBLE person, in youthful years, paid regular visits to the Marche aux timbers, the "stamp market" in Paris Champs Elysees, and traded profitably there, after arranging with the son of Guatemala's Paris representative to purchase all his father's stamped envelopes, thrown into the waste basket. Guatemala stamps were rare then.

Nothing is more exciting than for a young collector to get a rare stamp from some out-of-the-way island of which he had never heard. It makes him feel like a traveler.

Meadville Label On Suit Has Not Been Explained

Detroit Murder Victim Is Identified—Believed Slaying Is Gangland Work

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 15.—Authorities admitted themselves baffled over the apparent gangland slaying of a former WPA worker today, after questioning the victim's widow, Mrs. Rebecca Poole, mother of a 6-day old baby girl, who told police she was unable to explain the murder.

She revealed, however, Charles Poole, formerly of East St. Louis and Warrensburg, Ky., had taken out a small insurance policy two weeks ago and she said he had been despondent because of unemployment.

"I wonder if he could have killed himself?" she speculated.

Police discarded a suicide theory, however, pointing out Poole had been shot five times before his body was tossed into a ditch early yesterday. He wore a suit with the label of a Meadville, Pa., clothier.

Benefits Of New Hospital Plan Seen As Case Is Admitted

With the admission of the first patient under the "prepaid hospital care" plan, to the Jameson Memorial hospital today, the worth whileness of the plan is demonstrated. The patient has been a group member less than two weeks but he will receive the full service of the hospital without any charge save for his physician. The case is a pneumonia condition which usually calls for about 17 days service. In this time the patient will receive everything necessary to restore him to health.

This will include his bed and meals, nursing service, oxygen tent service, laboratory service, everything that is necessary to restore him to health and when he leaves the hospital he will have no bill to worry about save for the expenses of his physician.

Today sees the first patient to be admitted under the "prepaid hospital care" plan, but in the weeks and months to come there will be many of them. No one can say when he will be stricken with disease or accident. Perfect health today may mean badly needed hospitalization tomorrow and pneumonia, appendicitis, accident, all strike with tragic swiftness.

Groups are being formed rapidly in business houses, churches, fraternal groups and various plants. As quickly as they are formed, the members present themselves at the hospital where they identify themselves, are given cards and they are then eligible for hospitalization up to 35 days without any cost save the physician.

The cost of joining a group is so small that many have thought there might be some restriction in it somewhere that would show itself when a person was hospitalized. The case of today is one in point. He has been a member less than two weeks and he will save about $110. Had he not been a member of a group the bill would approximate $110.50. As it is his seventy five cents pays everything.

Croton M. E. Has Annual Banquet

Annual Mother's And Daughter's Banquet Held In Church With 345 Guests In Attendance

The annual mothers and daughters banquet was held May 12 in the Croton Avenue M. E. church dining room, with guests numbering 145 participating. The appointments were carried out in hues of orchid and white, and at 6:30 o'clock a sumptuous menu was efficiently served by Jack Wilson and his committee of men. Miss Eve Nicklin, former deaconess, gave the invocation.

Afterwards, a program was presented with Mrs. R. L. Gormley, chairman of the entire affair, introducing Miss Marjorie Rhodes, toastmistress of the evening. She announced the various numbers, the first being Violet Schuler, who gave a toast to "Our Mothers", and the message was graciously returned by Mrs. Charles Hauger, who honored the daughters with an appropriate toast. Other features followed.

Two violin solos were contributed by Kathryn Bittner with Isabelle Johnson playing her accompaniment. A comedy skit entitled "Make Up" was enacted by Audrey Bridenbaugh and Gladys Brown. A group of accordion solos were given by Helen Kusnierczyak as the next feature and Mrs. Lillian Buckner followed with two selected vocal numbers.

The main address of the evening on the subject "A Mother's Responsibility" was given by Mrs. D. C. Schnebly, which proved most enlightening and entertaining.

Committees in charge were composed of the following: general chairman, Mrs. R. L. Gormley; menu, Mrs. Earl Cook, Mrs. Jesse Hinkson and Mrs. Charles Campbell; reservations, Mrs. Frank Doerr, Mrs. Barbara Smith, Mrs. Charles Kenehan and Lilly Belle Hill; decorations, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. Mary Wilson and the Girl Scouts of the church. Anti-Noise Law Stumps Officials In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Philadelphia's anti-noise ordinance became law today, but neither its sponsors, Mayor S. Davis Wilson, nor the police were quite certain what the law meant.

Problems of enforcement arose when puzzled police asked just how loud blaring radios, automobile horns, hucksters' cries and other noises must be before they are "unnecessary" and punishable. Mayor Wilson admitted he was stumped.

"I realize the law is impractical as it stands," the mayor confessed, "but it is better than none at all." Perhaps something can be done later, he added, to put "teeth" in it.

First Time That Seminary Students Have Graduated Without Assignments

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—For the first time in 72 years, not a single member of a graduating class at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, this city, has obtained an assignment.

Explaining the unemployment was a "tempeorary condition," Dr. Charles M. Jacobs, president of the seminary, said that throughout the depression more men were trained as ministers than the church could absorb.

In order to improve the situation, Dr. Jacobs disclosed that the institution has been considering increasing the course of study from three to four years.

Slippery Rock Local, Founded In 1886, To Have Anniversary Program

The 50th anniversary of the founding of the Slippery Rock local of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be celebrated at a special program in the Princeton Presbyterian church, Princeton, on Thursday evening, May 21 at 8 o'clock.

Organized in March, 1886, in the very same church where the anniversary will be celebrated, the Slippery Rock organization, with an active membership of more than 50 throughout its half century of service, is one of the county's oldest.

The Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third U. P. church of New Castle, will deliver the principal anniversary address, it was announced today by the committee, composed of Mrs. S. H. Shaw, Mrs. Audley McClymonds and Mrs. J. A. Boak.

Mrs. Boak, one of the committee, will give the local's history, the Rev. and Mrs. P. D. McCracken, Rose Point, will sing a duet, special musical numbers will be contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Eakin, of Harlansburg, and greetings will be brought by the pastors of the churches of the community.

Invitations had been mailed today to all former members and to descendants of the original members.

A social period is to follow the formal program. Refreshments will be served.

Forty-five charter members were on the local's roll when it was organized and Mrs. Daniel Gross, Adams street, is one of the original group.

TROOP 15 IN SESSION

Troop V-15 held its meeting on Tuesday night, with members of the troop committee present. The scouts were reviewed on their tests and the meeting closed at 9 p. m.

MEET AT SECOND U. P.

Troop 12 of the Second U. P. church met in the church Thursday night for its regular meeting. The meeting opened with colors and the scout oath. Dues were collected and patrols met in their corners to prepare for the first aid contest. The rules and regulations were the same as those used in the Ben Franklin school on the night of the county contest. A judge was assigned to the Silver Fox patrol and to the Flying Eagle patrol. Four problems were given to each patrol.

The winner of the contest was the Silver Fox patrol.

Mr. Hufford visited the troop. The meeting was in charge of the scoutmaster, Ray Zeigler. Colors and the Lord's Prayer closed the meeting.

Scribe John Senko.

HOOVER CALLS FOR MILITANT REPUBLICANISM

Makes Address At Philadelphia

Lashes Administration For Breaking Promises To People Of Nation

SAYS NATION FACES GRIM DANGER NOW

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Sounding the charge of a militant Republicanism in a vigorous address, former President Herbert Hoover today had called upon the G. O. P. to "clean out the heresies" of President Roosevelt's economic, social and government agencies.

With his words carried to the four corners of the country over a nation-wide radio hookup, the former chief executive lashed the administration for "breaking" not only its promises, but its solemnly sworn oath of office.

Road To Safety

Declaring that "exposure of the New Deal is only one-half of the battle," Hoover urged the Republicans to invite Democrats who propose to take a walk "to join us in faith that we have but one purpose—that is to place the republic on the road to safety."

The ex-president, amid roars of approval from a brilliant assembly in the Academy of Music, advised the G. O. P. what must be done at its national convention in Cleveland if it hopes to be victorious in November. He laid down a program for the Republican presidential campaign, which included:

Revival Of Confidence

"A restoration of morals in government; a revival of confidence and courage in the destiny of America; real policies of economic and social regeneration in place of the New Deal extravaganzas, and realistic, drastic and immediate reforms."

"The platform must be more than a party platform," he warned. "It must be a platform for the American people. Upon the determination of the convention will depend the fate of a generation. The bare planks of the platform can be composed on a sheet of paper. They must be composed in the fighting words which the times demand. But behind those words must be the determination to restore American liberty and revitalize American life.

No Pussy-Footing

"It would be far better that the party go down to defeat with the banner of principle flying than to win by pussy-footing."

Charging the "grim danger that confronts America is the destruction of human freedom," he proposed a series of general considerations for the party platform, and a series of immediate reforms. He was interrupted by applause at the end of each sentence as he recited the reforms—a stoppage of extravagance, balancing of the budget, restoration of the gold standard.

The Republican party, he said, should not hesitate to espouse an amending of the constitution, if it becomes necessary, but until then a "government of laws and not of men" should obey it.

In concluding, the former president urged Republican support of nation-wide child labor laws, radical revision of the National Security Act, but retention of its old-age pension provisions, and radical revision of the federal housing organization.

Clever Program Is Presented At Thaddeus Stevens

"Newspaper Unit" Display Is Notable Success In Grade 6-A Thursday

Much too clever to have been confined to a comparatively few spectators, the "Newspaper Unit" display and program presented Thursday afternoon by the 6-A pupils of Thaddeus Stevens school proved to be one of the most unique things done by grade school students in years.

Taking the newspaper as the theme for the display, the students and teachers worked the theme out from the early days of the Roman Empire down to the present days, showing in the progression the manner in which news was disseminated in early China, in Spain, in the colonial days of the United State and the present day. The songs, the sketches, and the oral compositions presented were all original and so very good that this program deserves to be shown to many more people.

On the walls of the room were pages of various newspapers, both domestic and foreign. In one display was a collection of daily features of the New Castle News, while each episode of news dissemination was accompanied by original art depicting the background of the days in question.

The program was the work of the pupils of Grade 6-A. The spectators were for the most part parents of the children in the presentation, Superintendent C. C. Green and a number of school principals.

Troop To Start Polo Practice

Will Stage Match At West Middlesex Celebration During Early Part Of June

PLANS PROGRESS FOR ENTERTAINMENT

Troop F. 103rd Cavalry, PNG, will start polo practice on Saturday afternoon in preparation for the matches they expect to play during the summer, and for the West Middlesex Centennial Celebration in June, when they will stage an exhibition match.

The regular drill session will take place at the drill field in Scotland Lane, Sunday afternoon, when mounted maneuvers will be gone through.

The troop will receive new clothing to replace that which was damaged or destroyed during their tour of duty at Sharpsburg when they were doing patrol duty during the flood in March.

Plans for the entertainment which will take place the last of the month to raise funds for camp equipment and other supplies needed by the troop are going forward nicely and a good program is expected to be offered the citizens of New Castle on this occasion.

Laurel Festival Planned By State

Cook State Forest Will Be Focal Point Of Four Day Celebration In July

Northwestern Pennsylvania's natural beauty, enhanced by coloring provided by acres of hill and mountain side covered by laurel and rhododendron blooms, will be on display during the first part of July—and during that time eight northwestern Pennsylvania counties will combine in sponsoring a Pennsylvania Laurel Festival. The dates for the celebration have been fixed for July 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Cook State Forest and Cook State Forest Park will be the central points of interest although the laurel district, comprising an area within a fifty mile radius, will have a very definite party in promoting the affair.

Expect Many Tourists

Tours will be arranged daily through the laurel and rhododendron areas so that all may have an opportunity to see nature's coloring at its best. Competent guides who know every road and trail in the vicinity will lead caravans each morning during the festival and will direct hikers. Last year more than 300,000 visitors from Ohio and western Pennsylvania alone visited Cook Forest and this year plans have been made to entertain more than twice that number from the states surrounding Pennsylvania.

RELATIVES BARRED BY PENNINGTON IN WELFARE WORK

HARRISBURG, May 15.—John D Pennington, secretary of welfare, banned the hiring of officials' relatives today in all institutions under the department's jurisdiction.

Pennington directed that no new appointments may be made of kinsmen or relatives of the superintendent, warden or trustees without specific authority in each instance from Governor Earle.

The secretary also ordered that relatives already employed may not be reclassified, granted an increase in salary or shown any special consideration or favor as long as the related superintendent, warden or trustee is connected with administration of the institution.

Mercer County Combats Claim

(Special To The News)

MERCER, May 15.—Mercer county commissioners appeared before the Public Service Commission at Pittsburgh yesterday to answer to a claim filed with that body by the Pennsylvania Power Company for damages amounting to $1,597, asked for relocation of power transmission lines at the site of the grade elimination viaduct on the Greenville-Sharon road.

The county commissioners deny responsibility, claiming they made an agreement with the state highway department to assume $1,200 damages and stating that to-date more than $4,000 has been expended. Further damages, they claim, should be paid by the highway department and not by Mercer county.

Pates Fate In Hands Of Earle

Deposed Chairman Of Milk Control Board Slated For Farm Show Post

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 15.—Laid to differences over policies of administration and enforcement, the virtual resignation of Col. James S. Pates as chairman of the state milk control board today awaited official confirmation by Gov. George H. Earle.

Pates, who revealed yesterday he had placed his future "in the governor's hands," was believed slated for transfer to the state farm show commission. Howard G. Eisaman, Erie, farm show manager, was reported as the governor's choice to fill the resultant milk board vacancy.

May Appoint Reynolds

Revelation of the impending shift culminated reports of continued disputes between the Washington, Pa., board head and Dr. Howard C. Reynolds, aggressive board member who was dismissed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot as a "trouble maker" and re-appointed by Governor Earle. Reynolds is from Factoryville, Wyoming county.

Regarded as a foe of the so-called "milk trust," Reynolds was seen as a likely successor for the chairmanship, with Eisaman and Charles T. Carpenter, the third incumbent members, comprising the reorganized group.

All three members were present during conduct of a hearing on the board's recent general order here yesterday. It was then that Pates admitted he had outlined recent "controversial matters" in a letter to the governor which declared the chairman "amenable" to any changes the chief executive decided upon.

Getting Releases On Road Projects

County Commissioners Meeting With Success At Bessemer And Enon

County Commissioners Bolinger, Cotton and Hannon were at Bessemer and Enon today on road projects.

At Bessemer it is proposed to improve the road leading from Bessemer to Hillsville. State Highway Superintendent John Shaw, has indicated that it will be included in the highway projects for this summer, if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

The county commissioners believe that it would be a great benefit to that section of the county to have it improved. They are principally concerned with securing releases from damages. It is understood that all the property owners, with the exception of one, have already agreed to release.

The commissioners may be able to get this release today. Superintendent Shaw wants some final action on the project at once, so that work may be started.

On the other road which leads from Enon west toward the Ohio state line, the commissioners believe that they will be able to get releases. Another road which is likely to be improved is that leading from Wilmington Junction to Neshannock Falls.

Musicians' Rating Not Learned Today

Word From Cleveland Awaited At Senior High; Party Still There

Senior high school had not been informed today where its state championship brass sextet and soloists placed in their events in the National High School Music Contest at Cleveland's Public Hall on Thursday.

Principal Frank L. Orth has gone to the Ohio city, for three days the music capital of the nation, to join Prof. Joseph F. Replogle and the local students for the spectacular marching contest which 60 bands will stage in Cleveland stadium on Saturday. No word as to the outcome of the locals was sent back here.

Press reports said the Casey high school brass sextet of Casey, Ill., had won the national championship and that the Cleveland Heights High school, Cleveland, was second. No New Castle names were carried among the winners.

The senior high office expected a message from Cleveland today some time.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

GIVE EARLY SWEET CORN A GOOD START

Earliest maturing varieties of sweet corn will ripen in 70 days from the time of planting.

To obtain a good yield of these early varieties it is necessary to select seed of high vigor and plant it in a well-drained, carefully prepared, fertilized soil. Spancross 2 and Marcross 6 are the most dependable extra early varieties. They are hybrid inbreds which should be grown from seed newly purchased.

Most satisfactory results are generally produced in a soil that is moderately sweet and well manured or improved by turning down green crops. The early crop will need 600 to 800 pounds of a 4-12-4 or similar fertilizer for average soils. With a liberal application of manure on heavier soils a 4-16-4 is recommended. On lighter soils a 5-10-5 will be more effective.

The most effective way to apply fertilizer to sweet corn is along the row on both sides of the seed and slightly below. Originally 300 pounds per acre applied in this manner is a good average amount. On lighter, less fertile soils this could be increased 100 to 200 pounds per acre.

REMOVING POOR COWS IMPROVES DAIRY HERD

Weeding out low producing cows from the dairy herd is of extreme importance at the present time and under present conditions.

Cows that produce less than 260 pounds of butterfat in a year, which is the equivalent of 6,500 pounds of four per cent milk, are of doubtful value as money makers. If the annual yield is under 260 pounds of butterfat for a mature cow it will be of advantage to move such cow to the butcher as soon as it can conveniently be arranged.

Weeding out the lower producng cows from the herd will help to reduce the amount of surplus milk on the market and at the same time will also cheapen the cost of milk production in the balance of the herd through increasing the average production per cow.

Surplus milk is often a serious problem during the summer months, and improving the herd now through weeding out the lower producing cows will result in the dual benefit of reducing the milk surplus and increasing the profits from the herd.

Where pasture is abundant it may be well to dry off all low producing cows and fatten them on pasture for sale to the butcher or to kill in the fall for home use.

SEED AND FERTILITY GROW GOOD PASTURES

This is the time of the year when the poor pastures look miserable and the good pastures look more like lawns. Now, more than ever, those Pennsylvania farmers who have been treating their pastures feel amply repaid for the small amount of labor and the nominal expense which has been incurred.

F. K. Miller, County Agricultural Agent, has succeeded in making a large percentage of the farmers in Clarion County "pasture conscious." One of his farmers who has excellent pasture is Fred Stahlman, of New Bethlehem. An interview with Mr. Stahlman would run something like this:

"Mr. Stahlman, what have you been doing here to have such a fine pasture with so much bluegrass and white clover?"

"There isn't any secret about what I have been doing, anyone else can have a good pasture, too. In 1928 I talked with Mr. Miller, our County Agent, about putting this field in pasture. It had been broken up and farmed before that. I put part of it in oats and part of it in buckwheat that year and seeded this grass mixture which was recommended by Mr. Miller:

Kentucky bluegrass, 8 pounds; Timothy, 4 pounds; Redtop, 4 pounds; Red clover, 2 pounds; Alsike clover, 2 pounds; White clover, 1 pound.

This mixture totals up to 21 pounds which was the rate of seeding on an acre."

"But, Mr. Stahlman, just seeding that grass mixture doesn't account for the pasture being so good, does it?"

"Oh, no! I've been treating it since with lime, manure, and superhposphate. That is what makes it good. The last application of lime was two years ago when I put on a ton of ground limestone to the acre. It also received 400 pounds of superphosphate and about six loads of manure to the acre."

"How many acres do you have here in pasture, and how many milk cows are you pasturing during the season?"

"Last season I had 12 to 14 head of milk cows on these nine acres all season and besides those I kept 26 head of sheep in the same field and then they didn't eat all the grass. The sheep were fat and the cows stayed in good flesh and in production all season. The grain that I saved will pay for another dressing of phosphate next spring. I kept the sheep on pasture until the snow covered it."

"Apparently, Mr. Stahlman, you figure that the money for lime and fertilizer was well spent."

"I certainly do. You can't produce feed cheaper in any other way. There is no labor of preparing the seedbed, no seed cost after the first year, and the stock harvest the crop. The man who still depends on stall feeding of concentrates to keep up the milk flow during the summer is losing money. A part of this loss would treat his pastures and cut his production costs."

"But, Mr. Stahlman, what would you do if you had a pasture that was thin and weedy and just wasn't much good? Would you plow that up and reseed it?"

Mr. Stahlman had to leave just then to do his chores, but we got a story from Ray Shook, of the same county, and what he did to improve his old worn-out pastures. Watch for this story in these columns a little later.

What Mr. Stahlman and Mr. Shook are doing in Clarion County can be duplicated in Lawrence County. What is your story about what you have been doing to improve your pasture? Lawrence County farmers who participated in the Annual Farm Tour last year saw this pasture.

TURKEY GROWER TRAINS BIRDS TO BE LEADERS

Robert Lohr, Boswell, Somerset, is one of Pennsylvania's veteran turkey growers, and by experience has learned many tricks of the trade. He starts his turkey poults in a long brooder house with a hot water heating system.

When they are about 10 to 12 weeks old, he places them on a good pasture range and uses range shelters for their roosting quarters. He solved the problem of teaching the poults to use these shelters by placing about 15 poults per shelter on range the first day. The first night he is certain that the poults are well distributed in these shelters and sleep on the roosts.

The following night there is little trouble to get them into the shelters and after that they usually go to the proper roosting places without any encouragement. These turkeys are now the trained leaders, and more poults can be placed from the brooding house on the range. The newcomers follow the leaders to the roosts and by training a small group he gets his 2,000 poults to roost in the shelters with little trouble.

HOUSEHOLD TOOLS HANDY TO THE JOB SAVE ENERGY

Whether it be cleaning house or washing dishes it's the equipment that counts, but next in importance and just as essential is to have a convenient place to keep it, says Miss Mary Vogle, Home economics Extension representative.

Nothing happens oftener than these cleaning tasks. Rooms may be clean and orderly today but by tomorrow may be untidy again. Constant use means constant rearrangement and the daily job of creating order out of chaos.

Laundry may be put away crisp and clean on Tuesday but will have to be washed and ironed again in a week. Meal preparations means dishwashing three times a day. Any homemaker can go on and on listing these tasks which have to be repeated at almost regular intervals.

Just as the tools aid in doing this work we find that the tasks are done easier, in less time, and energy is saved while drudging is lessened if the necessary pieces of equipment can be kept near the places where they are to be used most frequently.

Convenient to the living room, dining room and hall, should be a place for the vacuum cleaner, carpet sweeper, dry mop and dust cloth as these are likely to be used more often than in any of the other rooms.

Similar arrangements for the kitchen, laundry, bathroom, and other work units can be planned. The kitchen offers an excellent opportunity for keeping all tools and cleaners near the places where they are to be used. If storage space is limited metal closets for kitchens and bathrooms, which take up little room, may be bought and they hold a quantity of things. Convenient racks, shelves, and cupboards for keeping things in place can be made quite easily by the "handyman" in the family.

A utility basket containing smaller equipment which can be carried from place to place will save many trips. Never let equipment stray too far from where it is to be used. Handy storage space for it will save energy when these ever-present jobs need to be done.

Johnny Boycan, Jr., of No. 2 Mine, was placed under arrest on a charge of suspicion Thursday evening, after he is alleged to have attacked Rev. Charles E. Hauger, pastor of the Croton Avenue M. Woman Sleeps 5 Years Sitting Upright in Bed

A lady said she couldn't breathe when she slept unless she was propped up in bed with pillows. This was due to a large quantity of gas that formed in her stomach from undigested food, causing a croked-up, breathless feeling. She hadn't enjoyed a night of sound rest in five years. Then she took the double-acting stomach alkalizer, called WHITE SWALLOW, which is the new, scientific formula of FOUR different remedies for the relief of common stomach distress. This lady said she slept like a normal person the second night; now her food digests properly and the breathlessnes sand gas bloating has vanished.

Quick Relief

WHITE SWALLOW neutralizes acids in the stomach, expels gas, relieves pain, bloat, swelling and headaches. Relief comes immediately. It is not habit-forming like soda, and pleasant to take. Settles the stomach at once.

Costs a Trifle

You can have this relief for less than 1c a dose. Therefore, it would not be sensible to continue suffering. We are advertising this new, scientific remedy because it has helped nearly everyone who has taken it.

Young Arizona Slayer Goes To Death Gamely

Enters Lethal Gas Chamber Jauntily And Waves Goodby To His Minister

(International News Service)

FLORENCE, Ariz., May 15.—Jauntily as though on a vacation lark, 23-year-old Jack Sullivan went to his death in the lethal gas chamber today at the state penitentiary.

Dressed nattily in a blue suit, the slayer of Police Officer John Bradbury joked with prison guards as they strapped him in the 12-foot square glass enclosed room.

"O. K. boys, let's go," he mumbled as the guard pulled the cord which dumped gas into the chamber.

Waves To Minister

Just before he slumped four minutes later, Sullivan waved his hand toward his pastor, Rev. S. B. Hanna, and moved his lips slightly as if he were praying. As required by Arizona law, 20 witnesses watched the man meet his death.

Sullivan, a former Pueblo, Colo., and Houston, Tex., resident, was convicted of shooting Bradbury here last December when the officers attempted to search him for firearms.

BEE STATUTE IS UPHELD BY JURY

HARRISBURG—Right of bee inspectors of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture to destroy diseased bee colonies was upheld by a jury in the Venango county criminal court recently.

The prosecutor, a beekeeper, accused the state inspector of malicious destruction of property after the latter had destroyed seven colonies of bees on the prosecutor's farm. The inspector testified that on a previous visit of inspection he had found the colonies diseased and had ordered their destruction.

This was the first case of its kind brought under the bee inspection law.

Jesus Imspires Honesty

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Exodus 20:15—"Thou shalt not steal."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for May 17 is Luke 19:1-48, especially verses 1-10, 45-48, the Golden Text being Exodus 20:15, "Thou shalt not steal."

The nearness of our Lord to his cross adds a solemnizing note to his teaching in this chapter which Luke emphasizes by such repeated time notes as this, "Because he was nigh to Jerusalem, and because they supposed that the Kingdom of God was immediately to appear"; "He went on before, going up to Jerusalem." No teaching uttered at such a time can fail to register its importance.

Zaccheus Learns Honesty.

Zaccheus was not only a publican as Matthew had been but he was "a chief publican, and he was rich." From all we learn elsewhere about Rome's tax-gatherers it is fair to presume that Zaccheus had not enriched himself fairly and honestly. He was therefore probably the most cordially hated citizen of Jericho. All his riches must have left him miserable and spiritually hungry, for money, especially ill-gotten gain, cannot bring contentment and happiness.

So when Jesus passed through Jericho on his way to Jerusalem to die, Zaccheus "sought to see Jesus who he was; and could not for the crowd, because he was little of stature. And he ran on before and climbed up into a cycamore tree to see him: for he was to pass that way." He was determined that no difficulty should defeat his interest in Jesus. He was willing to seem ridiculous to the crowd if only he may see the great Teacher of righteousness who was interested in saving publicans and sinners such as himself. And no such earnest interest in Jesus fails of its reward. For "When Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and said unto him, Zaccheus, make haste, and come down; for today I must abide at thy house. And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully."

Zaccheus' Conversion.

What took place in Zaccheus' house we must infer from its results in Zaccheus' offer to restore his illgotten riches: "And Zaccheus stood, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have wrongfully enacted aught of any man, I restore fourfold." Here was not only repentance, but it proved its genuineness by willingness to make restitution. And all this was born in a new faith in the Lordship of Jesus. It was a genuine conversion that proved itself in a changed life. The life motive of getting had become the life motive of giving. Because of this change Jesus testified, "Today is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham. For the son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." What a change the people of Jericho must have noted in their tax bills from that day! But not thru changing statutes or rates but through changing the heart of a sinner through faith in Christ. And this Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost today by the same process of changing social conditions by changing the hearts of sinful men; by making rogues righteous, thieves trustworthy and crooks clean.

The Temple Cleansed

Where this can be done, when his every appeal of love fails his only resort is to judgment and condemnation. To this he proceeded as "he entered into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold, saying, It is written, My house shall be a house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

GENEALOGICAL MAP OF STATE REPRINTED

HARRISBURG, May 15—Reprinting of a genealogical map of Pennsylvania showing the Commonwealth's growth from three counties in 1682 to the present sixty-seven counties has been completed and copies may be procured by addressing Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas A. Logue. The map, prepared by the Bureau of Land Records in the Department of Internal Affairs and printed in a half dozen colors, is surrounded by fourteen miniature maps picturing the Commonwealth in various years and depicting purchases and treaties.

The maps are printed on sheets twelve by eighteen inches and are suitable for framing.

In 1682 Pennsylvania's original counties—Bucks, Chester and Philadelphia—were set up and the last one, Lackawanna, was created in 1878. In 1785, more than 100 years after the creation of the original counties, the Commonwealth had a total of sixteen counties. Fifteen years later the number had grown to twenty-five.

YOU can't keep good news from spreading—so the word is out that the handsome Series 40 Buick Special is not only big, and beautiful, and nimble, and smooth—but amazingly thrifty to boot!

One fellow, for instance, writes that he is getting three more miles per gallon than the salesman promised—why, asks he, don't we print such important news?

The fact is, we don't advertise specific miles-per-gallon figures because you simply can't safely set a figure that could be right for all drivers under all conditions.

So, instead of following the popular custom of claiming the world, on such matters we prefer to play safe and "talk small"—leaving Buick's really surprising frugality to be one of those nice things you discover after you've driven one awhile!

It works out fine, too! Owners are constantly coming in to brag about high mileage averages, low costs on oil, long trips without a penny for service or attention.

Call it our ace in the hole, if you like. With all of its style, and comfort, and standout performance—at prices beginning at $765* list—Buick's a winner and its thrift is all plus. Come ride in one and see if that's not the everlasting truth!

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 15.—A man has a perfect right to break his crackers in his soup or in anything else—provided he has bought and paid for them, Judge Randall Buchanan ruled in dismissing charges against David Wirger, a steel worker, alleged to have struck Gus Stevens, a waiter, when Stevens protested against the crumbling of food he had served the customer.

My New York By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Those who say harsh things about the cruel and cynical city, where the milk of human kindness is supposed to be always clabber, may find amunition for their condemnations in New York's great nearby plebeian playground: Coney Island. They may find arguments on the other side at Coney, too, but it cannot be denied that Coney is perhaps the only summer resort in the world where parents deliberately "lose" their children.

The practice has grown apace with the increasing efficiency of the Coney police force. Parents, out for a day of sport among the waves and banana skins, have discovered that if their pestiferous tots should stray beyond sight in the crowd they can be certain of retrieving them at the police station when day is done.

Coney cops have a sharp and practiced eye at spotting the lost and hungry child. They herd them in in droves during the day and keep them under duress until the parents, sheepish or defiant or sincerely frantic, drop by at dusk to reclaim their offspring.

There is a very strange and calloused type of human who will deliberately abandon a child in the crowd, in order to spend hours on the beach without a care in the world. Even the children, in some cases, have caught on to the hoax and fix mama and pap with a cold and accusing eye when they are at last rescued from confinement. One lad, I am told, spend a dozen days in jail last summer that his parents might disport themselves unannoyed.

The day when air commuting from the nearby countrysides will be a humdrum part of the mechanics of city life draws closer constantly—allowing many grains of salt for the rather silly and pompous prophecies of "Things to Come."

Nicholas Ludington, the airplane man, will offer the hosts of suburbia a combination airplane and automobile as soon as next summer. The planners already have their eyes on numerous Manhattan rooftops as possible landing fields.

But all this can scarcely be called a modern idea, at bottom. In 1865 a gentleman with a Wellsian imagination bought two observation balloons (which had proved a lamentable flop so far as military operations were concerned) and sold stock in a company which would provide regular aerial commuting into New York from nearby spots.

Bankruptcy wrecked the venture before it started—and doubtless saved several lives.

All of which brings us, logically enough, to the fanfare over the arrival of the great Hindenburg in Lakehurst, N. J. Your reporter set his alarm for five a. m. (daylight time) in order to glimpse the silver sausage slide through the sky above Manhattan's towers.

He as properly impressed. But, being an arrant coward in the matter of air travel, he was even more impressed by the nonchalant manner in which those first tran-Atlantic ferriers took the journey. They not only, from all accounts, met the hazards of the journey with a bland indifference but actually clambered about the exterior rigging of the Zep in flight.

Yet one story is reassuring. It may be pure fiction but it suggests that there are other nerves as jittery as mine. Franz Wagner, the pianist, was a passenger as you know. The main salon of the Zep was crowded with first-flighters who chatted merrily, 2,000 feet up over the wide ocean, of their utter lack of fear. It was a picnic, they agreed, less dangerous than a subway ride.

Wagner drifted to the piano and began to plunk out a twinkly tune just as a mild rain squall pelted the glass sides of the salon. A lady sighed, "Marvelous, Mr. Wagner!"

He started, blinked, stood up.

"Oh!" he cried, "Was that me playing?"

CONSTIPATED* 25 YEARS, ALL-BRAN BROUGHT RELIEF

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Condition

Here is Mr. Johnson's letter: "I got a package (of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN), and before the package was gone I was very much better.

"So I have been eating it for two or three weeks, and my constipation* has gone, and I was constipated* for 25 years or more. Hoping this may help some one to better health. I am a new friend to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."—Mr. J. B. Johnson, Lake Charles, La.

Mr. Johnson's letter is one of many. Millions find Kellogg's ALL-BRAN corrects constipation* satisfactorily. It supplies the "bulk" missing in the average American meal.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild and effective. It absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it more sensible to use this natural food instead of taking patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. It is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.*

Watered Butter Is Impure Food

State Seizes Shipment Containing Too Little Butterfat

HARRISBURG, May 15.—Careful surveillance of the nation's butter supply by federal and state inspectors saves the consumers millions of dollars annually, J. Hansell French, Secretary of Agriculture, said today in discussing the recent prosecution of a flagrant federal case.

Food inspectors seized a shipment of 8384 pounds of butter found to contain too little butterfat and too much water. The butterfat content ranged from .65 to 3.44 per cent. below the legal minimum of 80 per cent.

When the water was removed from the butter the 8384 pounds originally seized were reduced to 7829 pounds. Had the 8384 pounds been sold the consumers would have paid for 555 pounds of water at the rate of approximately 40 cents a pound, and had this manufacturer succeeded in disposing of his illegal butter he would have increased his profits from one to two cents per pound.

Attemps to evade the butter regulations are frequently discovered by Bureau of Foods and Chemistry agents and constitute one of the chief violations of the pure food laws, according to Elmer E. Harter, Jr., director of the bureau.

In the last seven months the bureau has brought 139 prosecutions for violations of the butter law.

FARM PRICES SHOW GAIN OF ONE POINT

HARRISBURG—Farm prices advanced one point during the period from March 15 to April 15 as compared with the preceding month, the Federal-State crop reporting service and Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture announced today. The gain was due to higher prices paid farmers for meat, animals, cotton, cottonseed and potatoes.

The index of prices paid to Pennsylvania farmers for their products on April 15 was three points higher than the pre-war base. For the first time since last October the Pennsylvania index of prices fell below the national level.

Mayor Is Puzzled Over Report On Jersey Ship Canal

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—J. Hampton Moore, former mayor and president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, recently assailed a report by federal engineers that construction of the proposed New Jersey ship canal is not practical at present because excessive cost. The canal would connect across New Jersey between the Atlantic Ocean and the Delaware River.

"The adverse report at the present time," the former mayor declared in a printed statement, "is difficult to understand coming, as it does, upon the heels of the celebration in South Carolina of completion of the last link in the southern chain, now 1,435 miles long from Miami to Trenton.

"It confuses the whole situation and leaves ships, barges and yachts seeking a safe inside passageway, completely up in the air."

Amelia Earhart Plans World Hop

Famous Woman Aviator Will Try To Make World Trip In Plane

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—Amelia Earhart, the "first lady of the air", is planning a solo hop around the world.

That was revealed at the airport here Thursday where work is under way on the flier's new Lockheed all-metal plane. Attaches of the field said the flight will be made under auspices of the Purdue Research Foundation.

Miss Earhart, reported anxious to be the first woman to make the globe-girdling flight, is now in New York. No expense has been spared, field air officials said, to equip the new plane with every modern device which will aid it on distance flights.

The flight, probably to be made this summer, will be divided into four hops, it was said.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HURRY IN SCHOOL

FROM SCORES of groups of parents before whom I have spoken in various parts of the United States, come questions and complaints about the speed drill exercises to which children are subjected in the modern school. Also ever so many parents write about this problem after describing a child who gets on well in every subject but arithmetic —"going to pieces on the speed tests." Also some school children write to tell me of their suffering from these savage weapons.

The many parents and children worried over this problem must know that I have on several occasions in the column, condemned the modern mania for hurrying in the classroom.

In a paper which I read before the psychology section of the Ohio Academy of Science (of which I am a vice president) at its recent meeting in Toledo, I wrote:

"A great deal of classroom learning consists of making wrong associations first before right ones are practiced, of repeating rights and wrongs together with the hope that the rights will stick and the wrongs will slip away. But do the wrongs slip away? Why should we expect them to? Such is the case of most drills in arithmetic. Now it is obvious that for efficient learning we must practice only correct associations. Useful drill is repetition of rights only—overlearning, in short.

"This concept of drill seems never to have entered the heads of most teachers—nor of professors or education. The almost universal method of teaching spelling to school children in this nation has no word studied until it has been spelled wrong. . . .

Learns Them Wrong

"Accordingly, a list of new words, is pronounced on Monday. Those words the child spells wrong he must study and be tested on again on Friday. But he must spell them wrong before he has a chance to learn to spell them right. . . .

"In arithmetic, and more recently in algebra, most of the learning exercises on the basic facts and skills consist of timid drills—stop watch testing and testing on what has not been learned. Not only is there constant repetition of wrong answers as well as right answers but the learner must hurry—a watch is held over him.

"Nearly every arithmetic used in our schools today, the nation over, has an exercise on every other page or so with the direction to do so many sums in so many minutes or split minutes. And work books now the rage are, in arithmetic and algebra, generally time-testing exercises. . . .

"Nevertheless, if holding the watch on the learner constantly would promote his learning effeciency we might afford to wreck a few tender nervous systems—for the greatest good to the greatest number.

"But there is no scientific evidence that a hurry atmosphere does promote good learning. On the contrary, there are some data to indidate that emphasis on speed in learning is very inefficient, that it not only decreases accuracy, but decreases speed also."

More on this tomorrow.

The exact age of only one woman is stated in the Bible. She was Sarah, half-sister and wife of Abraham. In Genesis 17:17 she is described as 90 years old, and again in Genesis 23:1 her age is given as 127 at the time of her death.

"soap scum doesn't mean you have to stop using soap"

"YOU'VE seen 'soap scum' in water . . . the unsightly substance responsible for the grey cast in clothes, streaks on dishes!

And wondered what to do about it! •

I did, and I asked my grocer's advice. He told me that soap in any kind of water forms 'curds' or 'scum', which means that perfect cleaning is impossible!

'What you need', he said, 'is a grease-dissolving cleanser. I recommend CLIMALENE!

'Just sprinkle CLIMALENE, a tablespoon or so, into the wash or dishpan before adding your soap or flakes! CLIMALENE cuts grease instantly, allows water to wash the dirt away! My customers tell me they get twice the suds with ½ the soap and get their work done in ½ the time!'

I took his tip. And now I, too, am a warm friend of CLIMALENE!"

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON

Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

The rubber diving suit worn by navy divers weighs 227 pounds; the helmet and breastplate 53 pounds; the belt 80 pounds and the shoes 28 pounds. Walking around on the deck of a ship with the suit on is practically impossible but when the diver has reached the bottom of the sea it is sometimes possible to step or leap many feet at one stride. Under water the weight of the suit is compensated for by the air contained in it. The navy divers working tools include air driven tools, electric lights, burning torches, etc., all of which are effectively used under water. Extra compensation is paid for every dive that a man makes in the navy. Men are sent to the deep-sea diving school at Washington, D. C., prior to being qualified as divers.

The word Tars, which sailors are sometimes called, was derived from an old custom of tarring the clothes to make them waterproof. In our modern navy the bluejacket is issued "slickers" which are made of rubberized material and serves the purpose much better.

Although the Naval Academy at Annapolis has produced numerous intercollegiate boxing champions during the 16 years that Spike Webb has been coaching there, no midshipman has turned professional.

CHIEF BELIEVES FIRES WON'T WAIT

(International News Service)

URBANA, O., May 15.—City councilman Fred Smith doesn't like the way Fire Chief George Donovan drives his little red department roadster to fires.

Smith told council he thinks the Chief drives too fast and asked for the appointment of a committee to investigate. A committee of three was named. It all happened because the roadster, with the Chief at the wheel, whizzed past a fire truck and blew out a tire when it hit the curb. The Chief countered with a demand to know how anybody could persuade a fire to wait until the firemen arrive.

Read Alleged Confession To Dreamer Jury

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Robert Dreamer's alleged confession, a series of revolting details outlining the brutal assault and slaying of Thelma Young, 17, almost eight years ago, was read today to the jury which has been asked by the commonwealth to send him to the electric chair.

In the confession, which commonwealth witnesses asserted was obtained without compulsion or promise, Dreamer allegedly told of slipping away from work in the Pennsylvania roundhouse, lying in wait for the young schoolgirl in an abandoned alley, felling her with a brick and then committing unprintable outrages on her body.

The confession was admitted into evidence and read to the jury over the objections of defense counsel after former Chief of County Detectives William B. Dinsmore told of obtaining it last January in the state police barracks here.

The statement related how Dreamer left the roundhouse undetected through a side door and went to the alley where he had noticed a young girl passing almost nightly. He lay in wait, according to the confession, and about 10:20 the girl came along. They struggled and she knocked him down, the statement went on. As he arose, he bashed in her head with a brick he had picked up along the road, the statement continued.

Then, he carried the limp body up a little hillock to a nearby field where the assaults took place, according to the confession.

And then with surprising calm, Dreamer was said to have returned to the roundhouse, finished up his work and gone home about 2 o'clock in the morning, the statement alleged. He changed clothes it was stated and burned his blood-soaked suit. Three days later, the confession recited he noticed blood stains on his underclothing and late that night burned those also on a hill back of the roundhouse.

Dinsmore's assertions that the confession was obtained without force were corroborated by Miss Loretta Fithian, a stenographer in the district attorney's office who took it down in shorthand and then transcribed it.

With presentation of the confession, the commonwealth's case was believed drawing to a close.

Daring Holdup Men Invade Cleveland Home And Stage Robbery

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—Two bandits today invaded the home of Abe Horwitz, jewelry jobber, in suburban Cleveland Heights, and fled with $2,100 worth of cash and diamonds after binding and gagging Horwitz, his wife and son.

The two robbers, one colored, forced Horwitz, his wife Sarah, and Irwin, a 19-year-old son, at the point of guns into an upstairs room where they were bound and gagged.

The victims freed themselves within a half hour and summoned authorities.

Taft Wins 47 Of Ohio Delegates

Final Unofficial Figures On Primary Are Announced Today

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Final unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary election today showed that Robert A. Taft, Ohio "favorite son" presidential candidate, elected 47 Republican national convention delegates to five for Sen. William E. Borah.

President Roosevelt defeated Col. Henry Breckinridge, New York "constitutional Democrat" by better than 14 to 1 in the Democratic presidential preference primary. The president polled 506,524 to 32,871 for Breckinridge. All Ohio delegates to the Democratic national convention will be pledged to Roosevelt.

In the state-wide contest for delegates-at-large, the high man on the Taft slate was Clarence J. Brown who polled 292,691 votes. High man on the Borah slate was Daniel E. Morgan, with 166,082. The Taft delegate-at-large polling the lightest vote received 50,008 more votes than Morgan.

Highway Funds Carrying 'Load'

Secretary Van Dyke Makes Speech At State Motor Federation Meeting

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., May 15.—A defense of loans made from the state motor fund when those diversions do not curtail highway work and their repayment is provided for was left here today by Warren Van Dyke, secretary of highways.

Speaking before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, Van Dyke supported the transfer of $3,630,000 from the motor fund for direct relief, pointing out repayment was provided by bills now before the legislature.

The highways secretary also backed the administration's efforts to raise funds for unemployment relief by increasing the gasoline tax one cent a gallon, asserting the price of gasoline is determined by only one thing, "what the traffic will bear."

"For my part, I would far rather pay that extra penny to buy bread for starving Pennsylvanians than to line the fat pockets of the oil barons," Van Dyke asserted.

Firemen-Students Engage In Battle

Firemen Turn Hose On Undergraduates Of Haverford College

(International News Service)

HAVERFORD, Pa., May 15—Haverford College students and Ardmore firemen were nursing their age-old grudge anew today—all because of a fire in the athletic field grandstand and a "kidnaping."

Students jeered joyously as the fire fighters attempted to beat out the blaze, but irked by false alarms in the past and general ill-feeling, the firemen this time decided to get even. They played the hose vigorously on the undergraduates.

In the melee Joseph Carson, a junior, was locked up in the fire ambulance. Unable to find the keys which students promptly stole, firemen were forced to take Carson to the town hall before a duplicate key was obtained and he was released.

Valet Hunted For Fourteen Years Near To Arrest

Valet To Murdered Film Producer Believed Hiding In California

(International News Service)

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 15.—Police here today believed they were close to the end of a sensational 14-year manhunt for Edward T. Sands, former valet of William Desmond Taylor, mysteriously murdered film producer.

Acting on definite reports the valet had been seen and positively identified in this beach city, Los Angeles and Long Beach police formed a network over the metropolitan area.

Sands has been sought throughout the world since Taylor was found shot to death Feb. 2, 1922, in one of the most mystifying murders in police annals. At the time of the original investigation of the sensational case, police questioned such famous friends of the slain producer as Mary Miles Minter and Mabel Normand.

A warrant was issued for Sands' arrest and the one-time valet vanished. The search has led to all parts of the United States and South America.

Ask ICC Extend Freight Charges

Railroads Want Emergency Freight Charges Continued For Another Spell

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 15—Because of increased cost of operation and the present financial condition of the railroad industry, Class 1 railroads today urged the I. C. C. to continue indefinitely the emergency freight charges, which have been in effect about a year, but will expire on June 30.

The railroads, through R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American railroads, declared that the emergency which the commission found to warrant the granting of emergency rates a year ago, exists to an equal degree now and that these rates should be continued indefinitely, in the light of the fact the carriers are not earning anything like a fair return upon their property. Many roads are having the greatest difficulty in earning their fixed charges, Fletcher said.

A writer complains that there is no humor in the campaign. What about the G. O. P. using race prejudice to make votes in the South?

Army Blimp Is Fired Upon In Mountain Range

(International News Service)

SUNNYVALE, Cal., May 15.—Bullets from a high-powered rifle twice ripped through the gas balloon of the army blimp TC-13 while it soared 1,000 feet over rugged mountains east of Lick Observatory, 20 miles south of here.

This was revealed today by Major Clarence R. Lobar, in command of Moffett Field air base here.

"Whether this is the work of some crack-brain or an anti-militarist we have not been able to discover," he said, "but it cannot be coincidence that both shootings came from the same spot.

The last time the blimp was fired on was May 4, while it was en route from Oakland to Fresno.

Herbert Hoover Going To Fish

Armory Work Is Delayed By Lack Of Some Supplies

Progress has been delayed in the installation of the footers for Troop F armory in the past four days, due to the inability of the contract holder to get sand and gravel to the job. The footer forms are built and the cement is on the job, but nothing can be done until the sand and gravel arrive.

Engineers of the Works Progress Administration made a trip to the pits where the sand and gravel are to be produced today, and found that equipment faults had been responsible for the delay. The contract holder promised that he would have sand and gravel started by Saturday at noon and if this is done work on the footers will be started Monday.

If the sand and gravel are not forthcoming, it is likely that the contract will be cancelled and re-awarded, according to Captain F. M. Butler, deputy director of the WPA.

Ground Glass In Hamburger Eaten By College Men

Doctor Orders Mashed Potatoes Garnished With Cotton To Be Eaten

(International News Service)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 15.—Mashed potatoes garnished with cotton was the diet ordered for ninety University of Indiana fraternity men here today.

The sumptious fare was ordered by physicians hoping to counteract the possible effect of ground glass eaten in hamburgers by the members of the Delta Chi and Phi Delta fraternities.

Casualties thus far are two cases of severe fright and the hysteria of the young grocery clerk responsible for the presence of the ground glass in the hamburger, university authorities revealed.

The grocery clerk inadvertently chipped pieces of glass from a milk bottle he was using to push the meat through the grinder.

The diet of mashed potatoes and cotton was ordered to prevent possible hemorrhages.

Review By King Is Marred When Horse Gets Wild

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 15.—Inspection of the Royal Horse Guards by King Edward VIII in Hyde Park was marred today when the trumpeter's horse, leading the parade, went berserk.

The horse took fright just as it passed the king, who was seated on his own horse saluting the troops, and, throwing its rider, galloped wildly across the parade ground.

Three mounted policemen and half a dozen patrolmen chased the animal, catching it just as it was on the point of dashing into the crowd.

Have your winter garments cleaned before you put them away.

We will return them in a sealed Moth-proof Bag on request.

Eckert Votes For Frazier-Lemke Bill

District Congressman One Of Members Supporting Inflationary Measure

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Representative Charles R. Eckert of Beaver refused to follow President Roosevelt on legislation of paramount importance for the first time since coming to Washington when he voted this week for the inflationary Frazier-Lemke bill.

Authorizing the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks to refinance farm mortages at a low rate of interest, the bill was reported as outright inflation. It was bitterly opposed by President Roosevelt and House Democratic leaders. Congressman Eckert, however, voted for the measure when it was finanlly defeated in the House by a 235 to 142 ballot.

Months ago Mr. Eckert indicated support for the legislation when he signed a petition seeking its consideration. In the final drive against the measure, House leaders succeeded in whipping a majority of Democrats into line and persuading them to oppose the bill. Clinging to his original conviction, however, Mr. Eckert insisted on casting his vote for the legislation.

New Castle was very well represented at the Girl Scout regional conference which closed in Pittsburgh on Thursday afternoon. In the local party were Mrs. A. P. Treser, Mrs. W. D. Cleland, Mrs. C. M. England, Mrs. C. R. Balph, Miss Emily Rice, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Mrs. Thomas A. Clark, Miss Elizabeth Reis, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Mrs. E. W. Guy, Miss Mary Virginia Armstrong and Mrs. Andrew Dodds.

They report an unusually fine convention, with an attendance of 665, double the ordinary number.

The meeting next year in middle April, will be at Wilmington, Del.

The New Castle party returned here about 5:30 last evening.

Edenburg Highway Project Discussed

Plan To Take Over Right Of Way Of Electric Company Meets With Favor

Residents of Edenburg and Mahoning township held a meeting at Edenburg last night for the purpose of discussing the taking over of the right of way of the New Castle and Youngstown electric railway for a public highway.

Road supervisors of Mahoning township and officials from Lowellville, O., and Struthers, O., were present and took part in the discussions. The railway company has offered to donate the right of way, which is fifty feet wide.

If the right of way is taken over it would have to be under the supervision of Mahoning township as the county would not assume obligations for its maintenance.

The plan discussed last night was to take over the road and endeavor to have it improved as a WPA project, with the expectation that it would eventually become a part of the state's secondary road system. There was practical agreement to the proposition that the road would be a great convenience. No final action was taken, but it was decided to hold another meeting after the feasability of having it made a WPA propect is learned.

Government Probes Large Shipment Enroute Apparently To Revolutionists

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15—A huge quantity of arms and ammunition from San Francisco and Hartford, Conn., allegedly shipped to supply Mexican revolutionists, is under investigation by federal authorities, it was authoritatively learned here today.

The shipment, valued at $200,000, was intercepted at Laredo, Texas, by United States and Mexican customs authorities, and five carloads seized, it was disclosed.

Two more carloads were said to be now en route from here, and three from Hartford.

Four men are under arrest in Lardo in connection with the alleged plot to smuggle the arms into Mexico in defiance of the federal embargo.

Landon Talks Last Day After

Read Well The Next Day Even Though Not Delivered Mellifiously Over Air

DIAGNOSTICIANS ARE WONDERING

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 15—The virtually unanimous verdict of politicians in Washington is that Gov. Alf M. Landon's recent radio interview was a corking good piece of propaganda for himself.

That is to say, it didn't sound so well on the air, but in print it was excellent.

The governor, it is agreed, knows how to write a telling speech.

His delivery of it is nothing to write home about.

"DIAGNOSTICIANS" PUZZLED

Political diagnosticians are wondering—

Which is preferable?—

1. A speech which doesn't mean much, but is wonderful to listen to?

—or—

2. A speech which has meat in it, but which isn't very thrilling to listen to?

In pre-radio days they would have gambled on meatiness. Most folk read speeches then; actual audiences were comparatively small. For example, William J. Bryan was a spellbinder to those who could hear him, but he did not overly well stand analysis. It is of record that he regularly was beaten when it come to a show-down. But, today, with the whole country listening in "on the air" and few persons bothering to do any studying afterward, it may be different.

Political calculators frankly are puzzled.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

On the whole, the betting is on the radio.

As a newspaperman maybe I shouldn't say this.

Well, I don't mean to admit that the newspaper is a back number. For news, the public still turns to newspapers.

But for speeches the radio has a certain handiness.

Illustratively, take my own case:

In the pre-radio era I listened, face to face, to many political speakers. Having done so, I did not have to read the text of their addresses in print subsequently. Most folk did, however; not having heard, they had to read.

Now I do not have to attend so many political meetings. I can tune in and hear what is said as well as if I were present. True, I try to check up later between the inspiration of mellifluous accents and the sense of what was said. But that is one of my professional duties; I am an exception. I think that the average individual gulps down the mellifluous accents and never afterward questions whether or not they meant anything.

WRITER'S SUMMARY

President Roosevelt's speeches in Baltimore and New York, his latest ones, are recognized as having been masterpieces of talk but as indicative of nothing in particular.

Governor Landon had something to say but didn't say it very well.

It was good in print, indeed.

It enunciated a political philosophy.

It acquitted Landon of the oil taint. It established him as an anti-monopolist. It cleared him of the Kansas prohibition stigma.

Yet Landon was clever enough to dodge antagonizing the oil folk, the monopolists or the prohibitionists. (It is queer that prohibition still should be a factor, but it is, unmistakably.)

LANDON'S ABILITIES

It isn't to be argued that Landon's qualifications will elect him to the presidency.

But they may win the nomination for him.

In fact, it looks like it.

Return judges for Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties will meet at Beaver on next Tuesday to total the vote cast for congressional candidates at the recent primary. The vote for state Senate in this district will be totalled at the same time.

A 15-day extension for filing expense accounts has been granted to candidates for delegates to the national conventions, and those running for state committeemen. The state law provides a 20-day period for filing expense accounts at elections. While the vote on April 23 was essentially a primary election, those who sought selection for places at the national conventions were really contesting each other at the polls.

Report of viewers on the vacation of a road in Pulaski township will be presented for confirmation at the June term of court. The road is a section of the highway leading from Pulaski to West Middlesex and is known as state highway route No. 694, traffic route 278. The part to be vacated begins at the Lawrence-Mercer line and extends southwardly along the lands of Charles Garrett, about 451 feet.

While the General Assembly is in session at Harrisburg, probably to impose more taxes on the already overburdened car owner, a local man suggests that the state solons do something that the motorists will like. This would be to change the date for taking out license plates from January 1 to, say June 1. January first is a bad deadline date. Two-thirds of the states have changed the time to two or three months later. Why not Pennsylvania?

The New Brighton Building and Loan association has filed at the prothonotary's office a scire facias on a mortgage against Margaret L. Hood, surviving tenant, and H. G. Workly, real owner, to collect the balance of a mortgage on property in Perry township. The mortgage, originally given in October, 1928, was for $5,200. It is claimed that there is now due on it $6,726, including costs.

It may be a surprise to many to know that there are between 65 and 70 cemeteries in Lawrence county. Some of them are very old and in them sleep the pioneers of Lawrence county. New Castle: Greenwood, Oak Park, Graceland and St. Mary's.
Wilmington township: Neshannock, Fayette, Fair Oaks and Amish.
Pulaski township: Deer Creek, Evergreen, Pulaski, Hopewell, Frizzleburg and Villa Marie.
Mahoningtown: Valley View.

Grove Wins His Sixth Victory

Boston, New York And Cleveland Are Fighting For Pennant

PIRATES HAND BEES JOLTING

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The current major league campaigns are among the hottest and most interesting to develop this early in the season in years, but the world champion Detroit Tigers are missing most of the joy and catching only the grief.

The result of their recent injuries is obvious in the standings. They are down in fifth place, without the slightest assurance of ever climbing any higher than fourth While they are fettered by misfortune, New York and Boston, in particular, and Cleveland to lesser extent either are getting the breaks or making them. Anyhow, they're clicking.

Grove Wins Sixth.

The Tigers dropped to fifth place yesterday when they ran up against Lefty Grove and the rest of the Red Sox. Grove continued his comeback streak to become the first pitcher with six victories, and again he was invincible after his only setback of the season, which occurred in his last previous start.

He allowed the Tigers only five hits and won by 3 to 1, although the Sox nicked Elden Auker for only seven hits and were held hitless by Chad Kimsey in the ninth.

The Yanks were presenting their pennant argument in convincing fashion with a 15-hit attack against the Browns, who lost, 6 to 1. Joe Dimaggio contributed three doubles and a single, and Red Ruffing pitched a steady game.

Indians Scalped.

As for the Indians, those who picked them at the beginning to make a race of it, apparently have no cause to change now. They're still in third place, despite a defeat yesterday against the Athletics, 4-0.

The Indians' hitting bogged down before Dusty Rhodes, who had allowed only three safeties Johnson hit a homer that would have been enough to win the game. One was on at the time.

The White Sox scored eight runs in the first frame, but at that, barely nosed out the Senators, 13 to 12. Lewis hit a homer for Washington.

Hubbell Tames Cubs.

The Chicago Cubs lost their fifth in a row in the National league feature, which gave Carl Hubbell a string of 38 innings in which he has allowed only five earned runs. He didn't allow any yesterday, winning 5 to 0.

The Cardinals pounded out 16 hits which included homers by Medwick and Martin and beat the Dodgers 12 to 4. Lefty Bill Walker earned his second win over the Dodgers in as many starts against them.

The Pirates rallied to beat the Bees, 5 to 2, and Cincinnati and Philadelphia were rained out.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

J. Winter, hurler for Wampum, turned in his first Lawrence County League win at Chewton yesterday, when following a bad second frame, pitched air-tight ball and forced Bessemer to succumb to his offerings. Hardesty proved easy for the Wampum sluggers. Plevnic was the batting hero of Bessemer. He singled with the bases loaded and two scores resulted from his hit. Leo Hill, president of the Lawrence County League umpires has a problem on his hands today and one which no doubt will result in a penalty being handed to the arbiters. Neither of the umpires appeared for the tilt between A. S. & T. P. and Hillsville at Hillsville. An exhibition game resulted with a 5-5 deadlock being played. Fans Start To Name All-Stars For Big Battle

All-Star Game This Year Will Be Played July 7 At Boston, Mass.

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 15.—A nationwide referendum was on today among diamond fans invited to pick the players in the all-star game at Boston, July 7.

Sixteen of the 21 players on each major league team will be picked by popular vote including two catchers, four pitchers, five infielders and five outfielders.

Managers Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs and Mickey Cochrane of the world champion Detroit Tigers, who will direct the play of the National and American league teams respectively will select the remaining five players on each side.

A tabulating system paralleling a presidential election has been set up to count the votes which will determine what players will participate in each game. At least one player from every club in both leagues will be on the roster. Newspapers in league cities have been invited to conduct polls of their own which will be summed up in the nation-wide tabulation. The polls close June 20 and announcement of the players picked will be made on June 27.

Grove City Class To Be Graduated

High School Commencement To Take Place On June 2—145 Graduates

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, May 15.—The smallest graduating class since 1932, but rating high in scholarship, will receive diplomas at the high school commencement exercises June 2, it is announced by Supt. H. W. B. Lehn. The class numbers 145, 28 fewer than last year, but includes 13 honor students, only one less than last year, while many seniors were fractionally below the 90 per cent average required for honors during the four-year course.

Clara Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Smith, East Pine street, will graduate with "highest honors," the requirement for which is a four-year scholastic average of 95 per cent or above. Miss Smith is only the fourth senior in a dozen years to receive this rating. In 1925, Jean McCoy and Doris Patton qualified; in 1929, Bernice Gilmore, and in 1931, Miss Roberta Lehn. Ranking just below Miss Smith this year are Margaret Elizabeth Hoyt and Rose Mae Monk with "high honors," 93 to 95 per cent; and the following gained "honors" 90 to 93 per cent: Harlan LeRoy Anderson, Edward R. Bardelcik, Jean Elizabeth Hall, Ruth Isabel Hulbert, Russell R. Lester, Joseph Miller Peno, Jr., Ruth Irene Rossman, George D. Stutzman, Morford C. Throckmorton and Ethelwyn Williams.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council granted authority to Streets Director B. F. Butler yesterday to execute a contract between Simon Laskey and the city whereby Laskey will oil the lanes leading in close proximity to cemeteries. Laskey explained his method to council after which Butler stated that Laskey, having done previous work which had proved satisfactory, should receive the award. The cost of oiling the thoroughfares will be in excess of $300, according to an estimate given by Butler.

If talk could build an airport the project would have been completed yesterday as thousands of words were tossed promiscuously during the meeting of council. None of them would indicate that they were opposed to the project. Councilmen Alexander and Butler favored sending delegates to the state capital to prod the proper authorities. Whether the fault is at the state or national capital is not known. However, the $162,000 has not been forthcoming. Mayor McGrath, plus solons Fink and Rice took the position that the city, having performed all of the chores in order to get the airport, urged by the sponsors, did not believe that the city should send the delegates to ask for something already promised.

Drinking fountains are being painted in different sections of the city and it is probable that they may be in operation Saturday. Last summer vandals caused the city considerable expense at the fountains. The vandals wrecked plumbing which proved expensive to repair. A close watch will be kept for persons of this ilk and in case they are caught heavy fines will be imposed.

So far no public mention of vacations for city employes has yet been made....It is not known when the men named to the police force recently will start studying at the state police training school at Hershey. They must wait until a new term starts. Information regarding this has not yet been received....Safety Director "Doc" Rice plans to have a training school for firemen conducted here.

Elect Mitchell Football Coach At Ellwood High

Board Approves Recommendation Of Athletic Committee At Regular Meeting

Newton To Be Head Basketball Coach; Croft Is Assistant In Both Sports

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—By a vote of 5 to 2, William E. Mitchell, veteran coach of Freeport High, was elected to succeed "Denny" Schill as head football coach at Ellwood City High, at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education in the Lincoln High school Thursday evening, thus carrying out a forecast in The News of Wednesday.

His salary was set at $2200 and he will also coach Junior High basketball. Also at this time Jerry Newton, former Westminster star and assistant basketball coach here last year was made head coach of that sport at a salary of $1800. Thurman Dutch Croft is assistant coach in both sports at a salary of $1500.

The above action was taken by the board after a recommendation by the athletic committee composed of W. L. Dean, chairman, H. W. Smith and Paul F. Luther. Directors James F. Fitzgerald and Dr. A. M. Gigliotti refused to vote on the football coach, but were in favor of the other two recommendations. Both made it known that they preferred Coach George Roark of New Brighton. They were informed by the athletic committee and Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong that Mr. Roark had been seriously considered but was out of the salary range of what the board was willing to pay. A controversy arose as to what figure Mr. Roark would be willing to start at Ellwood. Dr. Gigliotti and Mr. Fitzgerald stated that Mr. Roark had informed them that he would be willing to come to Ellwood City at a figure of $2400. Supt. DeLong and the athletic committee stated that when they had met last Monday night to consider the four leading candidates, they had called Mr. Roark on the phone at 11 o'clock and his answer was $2500 to $2700 and $2900 for three consecutive years, which the committee did not favor.

Directors Gigliotti and Fitzgerald requested a postponement of the election to give to further investigate the matter. They pointed to Mr. Roark's record in Beaver Valley which comprises most of Ellwood's opponents. Because of his association in the valley so long and his knowledge of the style of play used there he would be a drawing card to the valley fans and be a boon to the team at the same time. It was further pointed out that New Brighton was a Class A school and now Class AA while Freeport is in Class B, therefore making it a tougher football section for the former. The committee had ben willing to accept Roark at the $2400 figure the same as paid Schill last year, but he sent no word to this effect.

President Dr. H. E. Helling pointed out that there was a recommendation before the house and it was up to the board to act on it. It was passed by the 5-2 vote.

The four leading candidates considered by the committee were L. Reed Clark, of West Virginia, Roy M. Hickes, of Glassport, George Roark, of New Brighton and of course, Mr. Mitchell. All were given consideration on their records, recommendations, and character without discrimination the committee stated. They had decided upon Mr. Mitchell unanimously, after their investigations.

New Ellwood Coach Has Notable Record

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—William E. Mitchell will command respect when he takes over the head coaching reins of football next year at Ellwood City High School for he has a record that is to be envied. In twelve years in the coaching profession the Mitchell coached teams have won 75 percent of their games.

True Freeport High where the new Ellwood mentor hails from is a Class B school, where the student enrollment is nearly 400, but Freeport is in a section where tough and rugged football is played. It could be compared with Glassport who is in the same class and keeps on knocking off Class A and AA opponents with consistent regularity. With the exception of one year a Mitchell coached eleven has never lost more than two games in a season. In the season of 1931 his Freeport team was undefeated but was denied the Class B championship because it had played too many Class A teams and not enough in Class B.

Mitchell was born in Mifflinburg, Pa., where he attended high school from 1915 to 1918 and participated in all sports. He then attended Susquehanna Academy Prep School until 1919. His education was continued at Susquehanna University from 1919 until 1923 where he held down end and guard positions on good football teams. He was a forward and a guard on the basketball teams there. Tennis and track were other sports he participated in. Upon graduation from here he played independant basketball on good teams for a period. In 1931 he obtained a Masters degree in education from Penn State College.

His first coaching job was in Myersdale, Pa., from 1924 to 1926, then at Zelienople, Pa., from 1926 to 1928. He coached football, basketball and track at both schools. For the past eight years from 1928 until 1936 he has been head coach of football and basketball at Freeport High. He was also successful in the latter sport and last season his team won their section and entered the eliminations at Pitt Stadium floor. He will coach the Junior High team at Ellwood in basketball. His basketball record in 12 years has 176 won out of 276.

In the football Mitchell uses the Warner and Roper systems with variations of his own. His 12 year record here is 77 won and 3 tied out of 111. Some of his major opponents are Kittanning, Har Brack, Appollo, Tarentum, Leechburg, Washington Township, Oakmont, and Mars. The record for the past five years is 29 won and ten lost. Another thing which aids in making him a competent football coach is the fact that he has been an official for the past several years and is therefore capable in giving valuable instructions from that angle. He has been an official for Kiski and many high schools of the district.

Mitchell will be remembered here for a splendid Zelienople team in 1926 which held a strong Ellwood High team to a 6-0 victory in the regime of "Peck" Lee who then had Jim MacMurdo, Bill King, Willie Justine, Don Johnston, and others who are in the Ellwood Hall of Fame, in the line-up.

Mitchell's leaving Freeport is deeply regretted and officials state that a man with his versatility will be hard to replace. He is qualified to teach social science subjects, Mathmetics, English, Science, and Physical Education.

C. R. Cox Becomes Vice President

Official Announcement Made Today In Pittsburgh; Sanders Superintendent Here

PROMOTIONS GO INTO EFFECT TODAY

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—The story carried in Thursday's issue of The News regarding the promotion of General Supt. C. R. Cox of the Ellwood Works, National Tube, as a vice-president was made official in Pittsburgh today. Also the announcement of Assistant Supt. E. N. Sanders as the likely successor to Mr. Cox is also a reality. Both assumed their new duties today although the official announcement from Pittsburgh had not been received at the local plant early today.

The announcement from Pittsburgh states that Mr. Cox was elected vice president in charge of engineering and operations, succeeding P. C. Patterson, retired, and who has held this position since 1926 and been with the company for 49 years.

Patterson will be remembered here as the acting superintendent for a few months after J. W. Offutt had been transferred to the Pittsburgh office. He brought Mr. Cox here from the Babcock and Wilcox Tube company of Beaver Falls, as his assistant superintendent. Numerous changes—promotions and demotions were made at this time. Mr. Cox became general superintendent not long after his arrival to the local plant. Two or three months after, he brought E. N. Sanders from the J. and L. Steel company of Aliquippa, as his assistant. It was generally believed that he would succeed Mr. Cox when the promotion report began to circulate.

Same Tax Rate Set By Board

Board Of Education Sets Tax Millage Same As Last Year At 22 Mills

TEACHERS GIVEN SALARY RAISES

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Board of Education levied a 22 mill tax millage for the year, the same as last at their regular monthly meeting last night in the Lincoln high school.

Thirteen mills was designated for the payment of salaries and nine mills property tax. A sum of $46,010 was appropriated to the sinking fund for the redemption of bonds and paying the interest and taxes on same. This whole matter was covered by a resolution presented by the Finance Committee, J. A. Evans, chairman, which the board unanimously passed. The budget for the year 1936 was also adopted at this time.

Raise Salaries

Upon recommendation of Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong, all teachers in the school system received salary raises by vote of the board. Forty-seven teachers received from $100 to $300 increases as made mandatory by the provisions of the Edmund's Act. All other teachers, 28 in number, who have been with the school system for years and within the Edmund's Act received an increase of $50 for the school year of 1936-37. The raises were made without increasing the budget Superintendent DeLong told the board. Some resignations and the arrangements made for the new teacher by the act make this possible. Salary raises were not possible for the janitors without increasing the budget, so they will be given one week's vacation this summer with pay. Secretary Hancher informed the board that the state appropriation was expected in June. A uniform wage of $90 per month for all janiors in the school system was recommended and passed by the board. This excluded those doing a different type of work.

Accept Resignations

The resignations of Coach "Denny" Schill and Earnest Hensley had been received and accepted by the board last night. The former has accepted a similar position at Shaw high, East Cleveland, O., and the latter has accepted a more lucrative offer at Meadville. Also the resignation of Mrs. Judd C. Turner as a member of the local playground commission was accepted with regret by the board. Mrs. Turner is soon to move to Harrisburg.

Mr. Douds of Beaver Falls was elected to conduct an eye clinic in the local schools in the near future.
